This book aims to cover the specifications of the main examination boards for GCSE Double Science, GCSE Single Science and the core content of GCSE Chemistry. Where relevant, Key Stage 3 material is summarized as an introduction to GCSE topics. This serves as revision of work done prior to Key Stage 4, and a foundation for GCSE studies. The book is Quantitative Chemical Analysis, Sixth Edition CRC Press Agl cloud-seeding nuclei were produced in a wind tunnel by both a flame generator and pyrotechnic at simulated aircraft speeds (150 to 200 mph). These aerosols were collected with isokenetic and anisokinetic samplers. By using electron microscope combined with X-ray energy spectrometer, we determined that particles' size, shape, chemical composition, photostability, and hygroscopicity. We also studied the relationship between these properties and the Agl aerosols' effectiveness as sublimation, condensation-freezing, and contact nuclei. All the aerosols' properties depend on the generating techniques, the additives mixed with AgI before combustion, and the quenching rate of the exhaust plume. From our study of the existing aerosolgenerating methods, we developed a new method: combusting solid AgI in a flame generator. We found the aerosol's size distribution, chemical arrangement, and physical properties can be controlled by mixing another salt with the solid AgI; this promotes heterogeneous nucleation or modifies
