The number of athletes who have died competing in the sport of motor racing, including amateurs and professionals around the world, stretches into the thousands. Despite the danger, drivers continue to compete day in and day out for the thrill and joy of the race. In Taken by Speed: Fallen Heroes of Motor Sport and Their Legacies, Connie Ann Kirk pays tribute to professional racing drivers who died while competing in the sport they loved. Covering tragedies from 1955 to the present, Kirk carefully reflects on the legacies of the racers and the impact of the tragic events, including on safety regulations, innovations, and on society as a whole. Drivers and incidents covered in this book include the 24 Heures du Mans race of 1955 where over 80 people died; the 1964 crash at the Indianapolis 500 that stopped the race for the first time in history; and the tragic losses of racers Ayrton Senna, Dale Earnhardt, Alberto Ascari, Jim Clark, Bruce McLaren, Gilles Villeneuve, Francois Cevert, Dan Wheldon, Justin Wilson, and Jules Bianchi. Taken by Speed features exclusive interviews with legends of motor sport—Mario Andretti, Derek Bell, Sir Stirling Moss, Bobby Rahal, Brian Redman, and Sir Jackie Stewart—who raced in the sport ' s most dangerous era. It also includes timelines of safety improvements in the sport and key moments in motor sport history. Using motor sports as its lens, this book explores moving stories of what it means to pursue a life ' s passion with unwavering drive, commitment, and courage.

From the tremendously rich variety of Print's Regional Design Annual winners, Print's editors have selected 200 superb applications of illustration and photography in a wide range of print communications for the latest in the Print's Best series. Because of the Regional Annual's dense format, these winning entries had to be shown small. This book provides the opportunity not only to show the pieces at a generous size, thereby enhancing their impact, but also to feature many of them along with related materials. Here we have brilliantly effective ads, editorial spreads, posters, book and magazine covers, direct-mail, packaging, and corporate publications, all of which use illustration or photography, or a combination of the two, as a central element in the design. Publishing companies account for about a third of the work shown here - including newspaper pages, magazine covers and spreads, and book covers. Print ads represent many different kinds of businesses - among them beverage, food, delivery service, window manufacturers, and sports equipment companies. Posters promote arts festivals, art schools, seminars, and movies, and some do double duty as self-promotion pieces for their creators. Self-promotion for photographers and illustrators runs the gamut from posters and direct-mail pieces to printed ads. Corporate publications for well-known companies like IBM, Kodak, Adobe, and Strathmore include capability brochures, product promotions, and, of course, annual reports. The work shown covers the gamut of current illustrative and photographic techniques, making the book an invaluable resource for anyone in the design field.

McCracken (Chief Culture Officer: How To Create a Living, Breathing Corporation) defines a "culturematic" as "a little machine for making culture" and a "what if" tool. They are small, cheap, open-ended, broadly focused experiments designed to uncover "ideas we can't possibly guess we need" and to generate a range of options. These experiments allow companies, marketers, innovators, and individuals to adapt to constant change and examine options with little risk or expense. Many will fail, but some will scale up. McCracken describes several successful culturematics, discusses the theory behind them, and includes instructions on how to tailor these experiments to specific industries, as well as how to use them personally for improvement or self-discovery and what they can mean to corporations. He makes clear the differences between culturematics and stunts or pranks and maintains a website (culturematic.com) in support of ongoing conversation on the subject. Verdict Engagingly written and accessible to both business and lay people, the book will have broad appeal to entrepreneurs, marketers, inventors, artists, and people looking for a creativity boost in their professional or personal lives.-Rachel Owens, Daytona State Coll.
