music teacher, high school band leader and school principal. He hunted, he fished, he traveled with his wife and daughter, doing all those things the rest of us do. Today, he continues to teach piano to college students, and to enjoy life with activities that he can still do. He tells his, and his family's, story without bemoaning his fate, but instead, it is a wake-up call to victims of this dreadful disease. The Editor

Come Write with Me: POETRY Workbook & Journal: (For Children) Vol. 1 HarperCollins Publishers

A joyful, poetic celebration of kindergarten and first grade Poet Kay Winters has written a book of zippy poems centering on the triumphs and trials of those first school years. This cheery collection covers an astonishing range of activities from the anticipated--dashing to the bus and science class discoveries--to the completely unexpected--losing a permission slip and seeing a teacher outside the classroom. Patrice Barton's sweetly smudgy watercolor illustrations show a wonderfully diverse class of young students, making this an ideal selection for every collection.

Daniel Finds a Poem Little, Brown Books for Young Readers

"First grade poems focus on: all about me, school, community, animals, math, life cycles, and much more. The poems in the collection are from four to fifteen lines long. Those within the beginning themes are simpler, including many high frequency words that children can use as anchors and a great deal of repetition to make the poems more predictable. Reading a poem in many forms makes it fun for first graders to practice and develop their reading skills. For individual, group, and whole class work, we've provided the tools you need. Each poem has a student poem page with an engaging illustration. This enables children to create their own personal poetry collections."--Teaching Resource Center.

High school is the absolute worst... Looking back, it's easy to say that it wasn't that bad—but in the moment, it really was the end of the world. Now, you probably don't even remember the name of your nemesis or the face of your secret crush, but you recorded it somewhere, didn't you? We all have them collecting dust on a shelf, in a box under the bed, or hidden away in the attic where no one can find them: that journal, diary, or even composition book full of your teen angst.

We want them. In the raw.
Unedited. All the teen angst you can hit us with. Take a picture of the journal, the page, all of the angsty doodles, the sappy love share them with the world!

epic days where everything
