High-throughput sequencing and functional genomics technologies have given us a draft human genome sequence and have enabled large-scale genotyping and gene expression profiling of human populations. Databases containing large numbers of sequences, polymorphisms, and gene expression profiles of normal and diseased tissues in different clinical states are rapidly being generated for human and model organisms. Bioinformatics is thus rapidly growing in importance in the annotation of genomic sequences, in the understanding of the interplay between genes and proteins, in the analysis of the genetic variability of species, and so on. This proceedings contains an up-to-date exchange of knowledge, ideas, and solutions to conceptual and practical issues of bioinformatics, by researchers, professionals, and industrial practitioners at the 4th Asia-Pacific Bioinformatics Conference held in Taipei in February 2006. Contents: Accuracy of Four Heuristics for the Full Sibship Reconstruction Problem in the Presence of Genotype Errors (D A Konovalov) Predicting Ranked SCOP Domains by Mining Associations of Visual Contents in Distance Matrices (P-H Chi & C-R Shyu) An Efficient Algorithm for String Motif Discovery (F Y L Chin & H C M Leung) On the Complexity of Finding Control Strategies for Boolean Networks (T Akutsu et al.) Microarray Missing Value Imputation by Iterated Local Least Squares (Z Cai et al.) Techniques for Assessing Phylogenetic Branch Support: A Performance Study (D Ruths & L Nakhleh) Identification of Over-Represented Combinations of Transcription Factor Binding Sites in Sets of Co-Expressed Genes (S-S Huang et al.) A Knowledge-Based Approach to Protein Local Structure Prediction (C-T Chen et al.) Resolving the Gene Tree and Species Tree Problem by Phylogenetic Mining (X Han) Gene Expression Data Clustering Based on Local Similarity Combination (D Pan & F Wang) and other papers Readership: Academics, researchers, graduate students in bioinformatics and computer science. Mathematics research papers provide a forum for all mathematics enthusiasts to exercise their mathematical experience, expertise and excitement. The research paper process epitomizes the differentiation of instruction, as each student chooses their own topic and extends it as far as their desire takes them. The features and benefits of the research paper process offer a natural alignment with all eight Common Core State Standards for Mathematical Practice. Writing Math Research Papers serves both as a text for students and as a resource for instructors and administrators. This program received the 1997 Chevron Best Practices in Education Award as the premier high school mathematics course in the United States. This book is an excellent resource for students and teachers of the International Baccalaureate program.

This volume contains the proceedings of the 4th Refinement Workshop which was organised by the British Computer Society specialist group in Formal Aspects of Computing Science and held in Wolfson College, Cambridge, on 9-11 January, 1991. The term refinement embraces the theory and practice of using formal methods for specifying and implementing hardware and software. Most of the achievements to date in the field have been in developing the theoretical framework for mathematical approaches to programming, and on the practical side in formally specifying software, while more recently we have seen the development of practical approaches to deriving programs from their specifications. The workshop gives a fair picture of the state of the art: it presents new theories for reasoning about software and hardware and case studies in applying known theory to interesting small-and medium-scale problems. We hope the book will be of interest both to researchers in formal methods, and to software engineers in industry who want to keep abreast of possible applications of formal methods in industry. The programme consisted both of invited talks and refereed papers. The invited speakers were Ib S0rensen, Jean-Raymond Abrial, Donald MacKenzie, Ralph Back, Robert Milne, Mike Read, Mike Gordon, and Robert Worden who gave the introductory talk. This is the first refinement workshop that solicited papers for refereeing, and despite a rather late call for papers the response was excellent.
