The Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) desires to use a concrete parapet with a brush curb, upper beam and post rail, and a new tapered end section along high-speed highways and roadways when bridge structures are encountered. The MnDOT combination bridge railing system was full-scale crash tested according to the Test Level 4 (TL-4) procedures described in the Manual for Assessing Safety Hardware (MASH 2016). The combination bridge railing system consisted of a 21-in. tall concrete parapet with a 6-in. tall and 2-in. wide brush curb at the lower front face and eight rail and post assemblies, which consisted of one steel rail welded onto two or three steel posts with their own welded base plates. The steel assemblies were anchored to the top face of the concrete parapet. In full-scale crash test nos. MNCBR-1, MNCBR-2, and MNCBR-3, the bridge railing system was evaluated according to MASH 2016 test designation nos. 4-12, 4-11, and 4-10, respectively. The 2013 International Durastar 4300 SBA single-unit truck impacted the system 60 1/8 in. upstream from the centerline of the splice between post nos. 6 and 7 with a speed of 57.4 mph at an angle of 15.4 degrees. The 2014 Dodge Ram 1500 crew cab pickup truck impacted the system 69.9 in. upstream from the centerline of post no. 23 with a speed of 63.9 mph at an angle of 25.1 degrees. The 2009 Kia Rio small car impacted the system 70 7/16 in. upstream from the centerline of post no. 23 with a speed of 62.5

mph at an angle of 25.5 degrees. The vehicles were successfully contained and redirected, resulting in minimal plastic deformation to the upper steel railing and moderate to minimal scraping and gouging of the concrete parapet. The combination bridge railing system was found to meet the AASHTO MASH 2016 TL-4 impact safety criteria.

Big Green Purse

Read Diane McEachern's posts on the Penguin Blog. Protecting our environment is one of the biggest issues facing our planet today. But how do we solve a problem that can seem overwhelming-even hopeless? As Diane MacEachern argues in Big Green Purse, the best way to fight the industries that pollute the planet, thereby changing the marketplace forever, is to mobilize the most powerful consumer force in the world-women. MacEachern's message is simple but revolutionary. If women harness the "power of their purse" and intentionally shift their spending money to commodities that have the greatest environmental benefit, they can create a cleaner, greener world. Spirited and informative, this book: - targets twenty commodities-cars, cosmetics, coffee, food, paper products, appliances, cleansers, and more-where women's dollars can make a dramatic difference; - provides easy-to-follow guidelines and lists so women can choose the greenest option regardless of what they're buying, along with recommended companies they should support; - encourages women to spend wisely by explaining what's worth the premium price some green products cost, what's not, and when they shouldn't spend money at all; and - differentiates between products that are actually "green" and those that are simply marketed as "ecofriendly." Whether readers want to start with small changes or are ready to devote the majority of their budget to green products, MacEachern offers concrete and immediate ways that women can take action and make a difference. Empowering and enlightening, Big Green Purse will become the "green shopping bible" for women everywhere who are asking, "What can I do?"
