I found A Son of the Circus to be an exceptional book even for a man of outstanding genius such as John Irving. What most impressed me was his ability to convey the experience of the immigrant, that psychological sense of otherness, of not belonging anymore, either to your country of origin or the country where you currently live.

The son of the circus from the title is Doctor Farokh Daruwalla, a somewhat surprising choice as main character that has to carry on his shoulders such a hefty narrative. At first glance he is a placid little man, of a rather short stature and rotund girth, neat and fussy but in general shy and insecure.
