Portable pool lifts have wheels and allow movements to different areas of your pool or spa, and allow them to be stowed away when not in use. They usually function with weights and brakes and are generally battery-operated. Portable pool lifts are not permitted under the ADA. Removable pool lifts are a hybrid between portable and permanent. They require more installation, but may still be removed when the pool is closed to the public.

Considerations for Public Pools, Hot Tubs, and Water ...

Single person pool lifts must be capable of supporting a minimum weight of 300 pounds (136 kg) and sustaining a static load of at least one and a half times the rated load. Pool lifts should be provided that meet the needs of the population they serve. Providing a pool lift with a weight capacity greater than 300 pounds (136 kg) may be advisable.

Pool walls can be a barrier for those with disabilities. While pool walls cannot be removed, pool lifts and entrances can be installed to allow for equal access. The ADA 's Title III instructs facilities to install these accommodations, unless doing so would involve too much difficulty or expense. Portable lifts purchased before March 15, 2012 are acceptable; however, any lifts purchased after that date must be fixed.

The ADA requires businesses to make existing pools accessible only when it is "readily achievable" to do so. Readily achievable means that providing access is easily accomplishable without much difficulty or expense. The 2010 Standards provide the benchmark, or goal, for accessibility in existing pools.
