At the time of installation, you were assigned a personal four-digit security code, known only to you. You must enter the security code when arming and disarming the system, and when performing other system functions. As an additional safety feature, other users who do not have a need to know your code can be assigned different security codes.

- Use your security code when arming and disarming the system, and when performing other system functions.
- Other users can be assigned different security codes.
- User codes can be assigned different authority levels, which define which system functions a particular user can perform.
