One of the world's greatest cities, New York City (known as "The Big Apple", "NYC," or just plain "New York") is a global center for media, entertainment, art, fashion, research, finance, and trade. The bustling, cosmopolitan heart of the 4th largest metropolis in the world and by far the most populous city in the United States, New York has long been a key entry point and a defining city for the nation. From the Statue of Liberty in the harbor to the Empire State Building towering over the Manhattan skyline, from the tunnels of the subway to the riches of Wall Street, from the bright signs of Times Square to the naturalistic beauty of Central Park, and from Yankee Stadium in the Bronx to Coney Island in Brooklyn, New York's landmarks are quintessential American landmarks. The city's neighborhoods and streets are so iconic they have become ingrained into the American consciousness. Here the power, wealth and culture of the United States is on full display in one of the largest and most iconic skylines in the world, in the food and music to be found around every corner, and in the diverse population of immigrants who come from every corner of the globe to take part in what this city has to offer.

Learning From Our Lives: Portraits Of Contemporary Women Clergy is an empirical guide for ministry and Christian living designed for women clergy, seminary students, and laity. It tells the story about the learning experiences of women clergy during and after their studies in various theological institutions and up to their call to full time parish ministry. In an unstable postmodern era, characterized by diminishing notions of reality and truth, perceptions of life's meaning seem fragmented and subjective. Thus, religion is pushed to the peripheries creating a divide between sacred and secular lives. This book empowers women clergy to reconcile their secular and spiritual lives, so they can live balanced Christian lives. Also, it informs their professional practices, and enables them to meet the demands of their clergy roles. Church leaders and laity learn from the pastors whose ministry experiences are presented.
