IF you can choose the perfect words and phrases, and look perfect for the job that you have to be hunting, then keep reading! Have you been dreaming of a specific job in a specific career and you are ready to enter the job market? Have you been interviewing and not getting the job offers you have been desiring? Whether you have an interview scheduled tomorrow or if you just started your job search and are preparing well in advance for the interviews to come, don't let your nerves get the better of you. In most cases, all you need to score an amazing interview is to familiarize yourself with some of the common questions asked and start crafting your answers in advance. Though there are no guarantees that you will get the job of your dreams, you can do a lot for job interview preparation to make sure that you are ready. Some interviews are easy, but the best jobs often come after rigorous and tough job interviews that can be done by one or more people within that particular company. There are many things that you can do to make yourself the best candidate that they see, and hopefully the one that they decide would be the best addition to their company. It may sound good to go into the interview without prepared answers thinking, probably, that if you prepare your answers will be stiff and sound rehearsed, and if you just "wing it" your answers will sound natural and present the real you, but I am afraid that may not be the way to look at it. Maybe it is not so bad to sound a little rehearsed and overly prepared. Maybe that slight stiffness will send the message that the job mattered to you enough that you did prepare. Someone who cares about how they present themselves must be more valuable than someone who "wings it." The "wing it" person may come off cavalier, egocentric, narcissistic, conceited, and just a big ole full-of-'m-self blowhard. Have you ever faced stress or anxiety before an important interview? Facing a potential employer and knowing that your dream job is just around the corner can be a nerve-wracking experience for most of us. Being at a job interview can quickly feel like navigating through a minefield without proper preparedness. Have you ever suspected that any unconscious habits of yours might be working against you when talking with a hiring manager? More often than not, job seekers have negative habits that never fail to crop up at the worst moments during an interview. These bad behaviors and habits can be tricky to spot and discard without someone pinpointing them. Here's some of what you can expect to learn inside the pages of this book: Learn exactly which steps to follow in order to be well prepared before you arrive to the interview. The key things that employers look for in candidates when conducting an interview. The best way to eliminate stress and anxiety and be in complete control during the process. Using social media to your advantage instead of having it work against you before meeting the hiring manager. Learn how to answer many of the most commonly asked regular and "trick" questions. Learning what not to say or do is just as crucial as giving the right answers. Job seekers will usually diminish their chances of getting an offer by saying the wrong things during the interview process without them even being aware of it. Sucking up or being too flattering to your employer can be as bad as acting too aloof or uninterested. Get ready to ace your next interview and get an offer by taking action today. The world of work has changed. People in previous generations tended to pick one professional path and stick to it. Switching companies every few years wasn't the norm, and changing careers was even rarer. Today's career trajectories aren't so scripted and linear. Technology has given rise to new positions that never before existed, which means we are choosing from a much broader set of career options—and have even more opportunities to find work that lights us up. However, we don't discover and apply for jobs the same way anymore, and employers don't find applicants the way they used to. Isn't it about time we had a playbook for navigating it all? Kathryn Minshew and Alexandra Cavoulacos, founders of the popular career website TheMuse, offer the definitive guide to the modern workplace. Through quick exercises and structured tips, you will learn: · The New Rules for finding the right path: Sift through, and narrow today's ever-growing menu of job and career options, using the simple step-by-step Muse Method. · The New Rules for landing the perfect job: Build your personal brand, and communicate exactly how you can contribute and why your experience is valuable in a way that is sure to get the attention of your dream employer. Then ace every step of the interview process, from getting a foot in the door to negotiating your offer. · The New Rules for growing and advancing in your career: Mastering first impressions, the art of communication, networking, managing up and other “soft” skills – and make it obvious that whatever level you're at, you're ready to get ahead. Whether you are starting out in your career, looking to advance, navigating a mid-career shift, or anywhere in between, this is the book you need to thrive in the New World of Work.
