"This thirteen edition of Human Geography retains the organization and structure of its earlier versions. Like them, it seeks to introduce its users to the scope and excitement of geography and its relevance to their daily lives and roles as informed citizens. We recognize that for many students, human geography may be their first or only work in geography and this, their first or only textbook in the discipline. For these students particularly, we seek to convey the richness and breadth of human geography and to give insight into the nature and intellectual challenges of the field of geography itself. Our goals are to be inclusive in content, current in data, and relevant in interpretations. These goals are elusive. Because of the time lapse between world events and the publication of a book, events inevitably outpace analysis. We therefore depend on a continuing partnership with classroom instructors to incorporate and interpret current events and emerging geographic patterns"--

Teacher and Student Perspectives Universal-Publishers Geographical Knowledge Construction and Production: Teacher and Student Perspectives is a readable and illuminating account of three high school classrooms in suburban Atlanta, Georgia. It challenges the narrow focus of the Advanced Placement (AP) programme as a tool for admission into colleges and universities in the United States. The research provides insight into the College Board's AP programme and argues for teaching and learning that is transformative and geared toward equipping students with the skills and knowledge necessary to confront the challenges of the 21st century. In particular, it advocates for geographic education that is anchored in the structure of the subject, teasing wherever possible, the contradictions and tensions embedded in the complexities of facts relating to people and places. This book is essential reading for professors and students of education, teachers and students of AP courses, parents, administrators, and state and federal agencies vested in the AP programme.

Kaplan's, 5-Steps, Crash Course and the others are great resources for reviewing at the end, but Tamm's Textbook Tools accompany kids all year long. This AP Human Geography companion is filled with vocab and assignments that follow the de Blij text throughout the year, chapter-by-chapter. They can be used as regular weekly assignments or reviews. They can be used on short notice if there is a sub, or be done as homework. All you need is the textbook. Teachers can copy at will, or the book can be used as a student consumable. As publishers started putting the majority of their content online, it opened a niche for traditional paper assignments, a void this series fills.

Whether the text itself is written in ink or electrons, students still need to write and keep a notebook for themselves, and portfolios still matter. These activities challenge students to apply the concepts and give examples, diagramming each chapter as it comes.
