Encounters between cultures are also encounters between knowledge systems. This volume brings together a number of case studies that explore how some knowledge in cultural contact zones becomes transient, evanescent, and ephemeral. The essays examine various aspects of cultural, especially colonial, epistemic exchanges, placing special emphasis on the fate of those knowledges that are not easily appropriated by or translated from one cultural sphere into another and thus remain at the margins of cross-cultural exchanges. In addition, the imposition of colonial power is unthinkable without the strategic deployment and use of knowledge; most colonial states, including those of Germany in the Baltic and in West Africa, were knowledge-acquiring machines - yet, acquisition always includes rejection, detainment and subjugation of recalcitrant epistemes. Bringing together insights from various scholarly disciplines, including literary studies, history, historical anthropology, and political science, the essays in this volume investigate how different or unfamiliar knowledge was, and in some cases still is, disarticulated by being belittled, discredited, and demonized. But they also show the strategies of resilience deployed by subjugated and subaltern people: the ways in which certain materials have escaped the coloniality of knowledge - how fragments and shards of other epistemologies remain inscribed in the polyphony and fuzziness of intercultural documents and archives.

Poetry. In Noel Sloboda's second book of poems, he delves beneath the surface of suburban life, weaving together ancient myths, childhood nightmares, and historical reveries. OUR RARER MONSTERS explores intersections between real and imagined geographies: a residential block where Grendel lives next door and Prospero is parked out in the street. These poems--and the accompanying linocuts by Marc Snyder--plumb the depths of memory to unearth roots that bind us to the literary, cultural, and mythological traditions of yesterday as we hurtle irresistibly through the twenty-first century. "Noel Sloboda's OUR RARER MONSTERS is an imaginative book full of wonder and charm."--Jeannine Hall Gailey "I kept coming back to Sloboda's poems and to Marc Snyder's exquisite linocuts included in this utterly winning book. Here is a poetry collection not to be missed for its audacity and verve."--Kristin Ong Muslim

Then he notices her chrysanthemums. With his characteristic insight and evocative language, John Steinbeck creates a short story of a brief but striking encounter. Set in Salinas Valley, where he grew up, it dissects the myriad complexities of humanity, society and hidden longings.
