In 2014, College Board rolled out a new AP® U.S. History course, which centered less on memorizing content and more on developing skills. Since then, the course has been modified here and there, but very little has changed in AP® textbooks--content is still king. Until now. Fabric of a Nation is the first book to truly embrace this dramatic shift in the AP® course and in how history is taught. Built from the ground up by long-time AP® leaders Jason Stacy and Matthew Ellington, this book offers a new approach to AP® US History by seamlessly integrating: A brief historical narrative AP® skills practice Primary source documents Exact alignment to the AP® course Now, that's revolutionary!

After her car breaks down in a deserted town, seventeen year old Sophie Anderson could not have felt more grateful for the help of the stranger. Little did she know how her life would change after that point. A ghost stuck in purgatory, Matthew Sullivan is still haunted by his past and the consequences of his interference with Fate. As Sophie and Matthew gravitate toward each other, both struggle to keep their feelings from clouding their judgment of what is considered right and wrong. While she helps him come into terms with his past, he offers her a new perspective on life and death. Ultimately, the meaning of love and sacrifices.
