These elegant little birch branch letters can be formed easily from a collection of branches. To make the letters, simply pick the right branch pieces to form a letter. Then, glue the pieces together and wrap with embroidery thread or twine. Glue the finished letter onto a small slab of birch log. These can be used to spell out names, as place settings, or a fun greeting such as “gather”.

White birch, or paper birch (Betula papyrifera), is a woodland material that's been used to make crafts for hundreds of years. Native Americans used it in the construction of their canoes, wigwams, sleds, hunting gear and basketry, according to Marlene Hurley Marshall, author of “Woodland Style.”. Today, those with an affinity for the birch-laden landscapes can incorporate paper birch bark into almost any project imaginable -- many of which, like these, can be used around the house.
