When Charlie’s ex-husband, world-famous artist Aristide Pompasse, dies, she heads back to Italy settle his estate, back to the nest of vipers who had hovered around the great painter in his lifetime. The only problem is Connor Maguire, the insurance adjustor who seems determined to annoy her. What with missing paintings, a suspicious death, and hundreds of millions of dollars on the line, Charlie trusts no one, not her self-absorbed mother or her stuffy fiancé. In fact, the only one person who feels safe is Connor himself, and he’s not what he says he is. The beautiful old Tuscan villa is no longer the safe haven it once seemed to be, with danger lurking around every corner. The truth about Connor is almost as bad as the discovery that Pompasse was murdered, she trusts no one, and even the man she’s falling in love with is a damned liar. With nowhere to go and no one to turn to, is Charlie going to be the next to die?

Jeannie MacPherson left her ice cream empire to find peace on a rustic Maine island. Instead she found irascible Matthew Connelly, recovering from a suspicious gunshot wound. It didn’t help that he was drop-dead gorgeous. Or that he was just as reluctantly attracted to her as she was to him. Connelly had secrets, and Jeannie didn’t trust him. But that wasn’t enough to keep her away from him. Or to keep her from following him when he left without warning. Neither of them wanted to fall in love. But sometimes fate has other plans.

Maggie Bennett is in deep trouble. She ’ s convinced her lover/nemesis was involved in her husband ’ s death, her baby sister ’ s life is in danger, and she can ’ t shake the feeling she ’ s being stalked. She ’ s on the trail of an international terrorist, but Randall Carter keeps showing up, and she doesn ’ t know whom to trust. She only knows that the man she loves might be the man she has to kill.

The Widow Loveswept
Emma Milsom thought a job with director/playwright Teddy Winters would help her put her life back together. She hadn ’ t counted on the presence of British actor Sebastian Brand in the dilapidated old theater. Sebastian was the foremost actor in horror films, adept at playing monsters of every sort, and his behavior in real life wasn ’ t much of an improvement. Rumors of accidents and death followed him, and Emma should have had enough sense to keep her distance. But Sebastian was mesmerizing, and just as obsessed with her. As the accidents began to escalate, Emma didn ’ t know whom to trust. She just knew it shouldn ’ t be Sebastian. Was he trying to seduce her, or kill her? Or perhaps both. "A RIVETING TALE of passion, danger & forbidden love. Breathless BREATHES NEW LIFE into the vampire genre." Rene Fountain, BookFetish College freshman Leesa Nyland has been fascinated by vampires since she was 3 years old. That's when her mom started acting weird, insisting sunlight hurt her skin because she'd been bitten by a one-fanged vampire. Fascinated doesn't mean Leesa believes, though. Any more than she believes in blue fire, people who live for centuries, or kisses that can kill. But when her beloved older brother suddenly disappears, she is forced to confront all these and more. She also has to figure out what to do about her mysterious new boyfriend. She knows Rave likes her a lot--so why won't he kiss her? As Leesa draws closer to finding her brother, she faces some gut-wrenching decisions. Should she risk her mom's life trying to "cure" her? Should she continue seeing Rave, after he reveals his dangerous secret? And most terrifying of all, should she make the ultimate sacrifice--give up her humanity--to save her brother?
