In my new book about cannabis drinkables, I will teach you all about how to easily incorporate cannabis into your daily life. My first experience with weed was terrible. When I was a teen, I fool heartedly experimented with smoking a joint. Now, several years later, I have expanded my knowledge on the right and fun way to consume cannabis. My preferred way is with cannabis drinkables. You may have heard of cannabis edibles like pot brownies, but have you tried a pot smoothie? What about a cannabis cocktail? My book will show you how it's done. To help you fully benefit from this book, I have divided it into sections. I start by providing very basic information about cannabis. I discourage all my readers from skipping the first sections of the book. It is common for people to skip directly to the recipes without paying much attention to the introductory chapters. It is in your best interest to get everything you need from the book. First, learn about the basic principles that govern the use of cannabis, its benefits, and those who are best suited to use cannabis. From the introductory section of the book, we move to the second section, which introduces us to cannabis extracts. We look at various ways of preparing cannabis extracts. It is important that you extract CBD and THC from the cannabis so that you can use the extracts to prepare your cannabis drinks. The extracts include tincture, oils, and hash oils, among others. Make sure you try out the extraction process before you jump to the recipes. However, you do not have to try out the extraction process if you do not have access to fresh herbs. If you do not grow cannabis and cannot access cannabis fresh buds, it is advisable to buy cannabis extracts such as oils from a legalized dispensary and use it. Once we are done with cannabis extracts, we moved on to preparing some cannabis drink additives. In this section, we look at the additives used in cannabis drinks. It is important to prepare these additives in advance so that when it is time to start preparing your drinks, you have all the additives ready. As you have seen from the book, we only use additives in drink recipes.

The main additives we use in creating cannabis drinks include cannabutter, cannabis milk, cannabis oil, and cannabis-infused honey. Once you have finished preparing the additives, start preparing your drinks. Make sure you examine the recipes well so that you get the dosage right. To help you get your doses right, we have provided a detailed guide on the dosage of both CBD and THC. Follow the dosage guide to ensure that you do not end up overdosing on THC. In case of overdose, make sure you take immediate action in regard to the guidelines provided in the book. You will learn everything you need to know to craft delicious and healthy cannabis cocktails, mocktails, smoothies, shakes, teas, and flavored waters. Adding cannabis to your diet can be healthy and beneficial - I will teach you how! Be sure to click "Buy now" to add this title to your collection. Cannabis sativa L. - Botany and Biotechnology Ed Rosenthal If you've been part of the cannabis community for any length of time, especially for medical purposes, you've likely heard a good deal about the therapeutic effects of CBD. Also known as cannabidiol, CBD is a cannabinoid with anti-inflammatory, analgesic, and anxiolytic effects. It can treat chronic pain and inflammation, regulate mood and sleep, ease nausea, and treat seizures and muscle spasms, just to name a few applications. There is an overwhelming abundance of retailers selling CBD oil on the open market, but it can be hard to determine the quality and purity of the product you're buying. Unless you're buying from a trusted retailer (see our CBD Buyer's Guide to learn what to look for when buying CBD), sorting out the good products from the junk can be difficult. You can skip the guesswork by making CBD yourself, in the comfort and privacy of your own home, with no special equipment or toxic chemicals. This way, you control every step of the process, from selecting the strain to choosing the dosage concentration, to the actual extraction itself; you know exactly what you're getting in the finished product and can modify your materials or methods according to your specific needs. It might seem complicated, but we promise you, you can do this! Here, we'll discuss the science of cannabinoid extraction and tell you how to make CBD oil at home for yourself. Cannabis oil is a potent substance that can be eaten, inhaled, or rubbed on topically. It is the foundation to many tasty edible marijuana recipes. The THC content in the oil brings on an enjoyable psychoactive effect when ingested, so it's a great base for chocolate brownies! Cannabis oil is also a potent medicine containing large amounts of healthy cannabinoids. The two cannabinoids with the strongest medicinal value are THC and CBD. Both are present in a well made cannabis oil. The oil can be used to treat a whole host of physiological and psychological conditions, including headache, insomnia, muscle pain, inflammation, arthritis, glaucoma, anxiety and depression. Cannabis oil can even have anti-cancer effects. Studies are suggesting that cannabinoids can inhibit tumor growth by disrupting the formation of new blood vessels that the tumors need to grow. Cannabinoids even seem to attack cancerous cells while leaving healthy cells intact. Go cannabinoids! Using cannabis oil is a very effective way to get a high dose of health-promoting cannabinoids, because the refining process removes all of the plant material and leaves only pure oil behind. This oil contains high levels of THC and CBD, so it's possible to consume higher doses of the healthy cannabinoids than if you smoke your medical cannabis.
