The basic structure of the EOS Rebel T8i/850D camera is similar to that of its predecessor model EOS Rebel T6i. This camera has a 24 Megapixel APS-C sensor. The new generation sensor with a dual-chip can capture very good images in high-contrast conditions. Due to the presence of the Dual-Chip CMOS AF sensor, it is much faster and has a much larger coverage area. It is possible to make some good photos by using the Dual-Chip CMOS AF sensor. It helps in improved AF and AF-C performance as compared to the EOS Rebel T6i. Furthermore, the user can use this camera in low-light situations. In the photos captured in low light, it is possible to see a very bright bokeh effect. Also, it has better autofocus ability than the EOS Rebel T6i. The maximum ISO can be set up to 16000 and the range of ISO 100-32000. Its electronic shutter is faster than the EOS Rebel T6i. It has a new AF algorithm that makes it possible to track the subject with very little user effort. The camera can also shoot videos in 4K resolution at 30 frames per second. The previous model EOS Rebel T6i can shoot videos only in HD resolution. This camera features a Live View Finder, which can display what is in the viewfinder on the screen. The screen can be tilted up and down from the right side of the camera. The built-in pop-up flash can be attached to the camera to allow users to click portraits with no flash. The viewfinder and the rear LCD are always shown on the top plate and the sensitivity can be adjusted. This is the Manual you need to get started with using this camera seamlessly. This book is for anyone who upgrades from their point-and-shoot, or for anyone who wants to jump into photography with the control and capabilities of a powerful DSLR. There's the manual, of course, as well as competing books, and while they all explain, often in 400+ pages, what the camera can do, none of them shows exactly how to use the camera to create great images! This book has one goal: to teach Canon T2i / 550D owners how to make great shots using their camera. Everything in the book is in service of creating a great image. Starting with the top ten things needed to know about the cam.

Rediscovering our forgotten heritage No Entry';
'Dangerous Site Keep Out; Trespassers Will Be

Prosecuted': common sights on walls or perimeter fences around many of the world's abandoned sites. These warnings allude to potential dangers and prove an ineffective deterrent against thieves and vandals. To the urban explorer/photographer these signs simply serve to whet the appetite for the promise of hidden wonders that may lie beyond. For those who ignore the warnings and climb the fences, what awaits is usually worth the risks. Vast industrial spaces that feel more like an alien landscape or poignant residential settings, which are slowly surrendering to the inexorable advance of nature. Places once alive with sound and movement, now silent and still, but no less sensory. Immense and powerful beauty resides in these forgotten places. For some, just getting inside a location to experience this alternative form of sightseeing is enough to satisfy a desire to simply go where one shouldn't. But for some there is a need to capture the essence of a location in words and pictures, giving others a metaphorical leg-up over the fences, to walk them through the remaining ruins. Matt Emmett falls into the latter of these groups, travelling regularly to places in the UK and across Europe. He seeks out vast power stations and their cooling towers, steel works, mines, bunkers, tunnels, schools, engine sheds, hotels, castles and a myriad of other buildings. All have their own stories to tell in a variety of voices and without the distraction, sounds and people who inhabited them, those stories are clear and strong and the character of each location is laid bare. Architectural Digest: "Photographer Matt Emmett has made a name for himself by pushing the boundaries to capture epic imagery of Europe's most forgotten ruins." International Business Times: "Matt Emmett's 'Forgotten Heritage' photography project uncovers the brutal beauty of abandoned buildings and derelict industry."
