The Canon EOS M was released in June 2012 with a mirror-less interchangeable lens following the trend by Panasonic makers four years before. It is compact and easy to use but is capable of producing great pictures with its 18 megapixels, at a low price and is perfect for persons who are new to digital cameras. It is said to be a smaller version of the previously released Canon EOS 650D but with a much simpler interface as is seen with the lack of a viewfinder, some buttons and dials that were present in earlier models. It has a detailed CMOS sensor and is very precise with high speed.
