This is the third and final book in Kate Mosse's series about the Languedoc. Although it refers back to the previous books it can be read by itself. What I enjoyed most is Kate Mosse's particular quality of storytelling. It is very detailed and in a way sensual that one can almost feel the atmosphere of the warmth of the Midi.

Citadel by Kate Mosse – review | Kate Mosse | The Guardian

'Citadel' is the third in the Languedoc trilogy, set mainly in the time of the 2nd World War. The first two are 'Labyrinth' and 'Sepulchre'. The parallel story of this third book is set in the 4th century and helps to put the first two books into context. This third story is a long book (almost 1000 pages) but once started is hard to put down.

Citadel is part of Kate Mosse's trilogy following on from Labyrinth and Sepulchre. I had really enjoyed these previous two books and Citadel is once again set in the town of Carcassonne in France, with the rumours of a hidden codex hidden in the mountains. But unlike the first two novels, Citadel is mostly focusing on the story of two young sisters living in a town under Nazi occupation during World War II and eventually head up a cell of resistance fighters in the most dangerous way imaginable.
