The title's fantastic world is derived from Huxley's understanding of history and current events—including the aftermath of the Russian Revolution and World War I—and its depiction of the conflict between progress and the human spirit still resonates today.

To make my dream come true I'll do anything, even put up with an asshole like Leandros Kaplan. Four years, five tops and I'll have enough money saved to stop working and write full time. I know lying to him to get the job is crazy and stupid. It's as crazy and stupid as the requirement for his new assistant to be married. I'm not married, and I'm not like his past assistants, the ones who dropped sexual innuendo daily and then would hand him their underwear when he asked for reports. I'm a freaking virgin at thirty-one. I swear I never thought I would fall for him, it doesn't matter that he's a gorgeous Greek god billionaire, he's also a jerk who takes pride in being ruthless and cold-blooded. He's so out of my league we don't even play the same game. He's into dating double zero models. There's no way he would ever be interested in a plus size like me. When he finds out I lied I'm not surprised he wants his pound of flesh, I'm surprised he wants it in the form of my flesh, naked for him. The retribution he demands is me, whenever, however, he wants my body. I'll give it to him, everything he demands. He doesn't want my heart or tears, only I can't stop giving him both, and it's slowly tearing me apart. Can he ever forgive me for lying or will that one lie be the end of us?

It won't be long, he assures me, no more than a few weeks. Close proximity to Ivan Volkov for a few weeks? Sure, I don't need my dignity. I wasn't using it anyway. No matter how many times I tell myself to stop staring at him with lust, I can't. Volkov turns down the offer I never even made; he saw me staring, he's used to it by now. An unrepentant user of woman, all he wants is for them to satisfy his need, then be on their way. He can get that satisfaction from any woman. The money I make him isn't worth losing when he's done with me. Until the moment he needs more: a shield from a woman who won't take no for an answer. He will do anything to protect his little sister from having her wedding ruined, even faking an engagement with me. Brilliant tactician that he is, he comes up with the answer to both of his problems. For the next three weeks we can satisfy the lust we both feel, while at the same time making it clear he isn't available. But before long what's between us feels all too real.
