Sir Pelham Grenville Wodehouse, KBE (/ ? w ? d h a? s /;

1881-1975) was an English author, humorist and scriptwriter. After being educated at Dulwich College, to which he remained devoted all his life, he was employed by a bank, but disliked the work and wrote magazine pieces in his spare time. In 1902 he published his first novel, The Pothunters, set at the fictional public school of St ...

I recommend books to people all the time. Wodehouse is one of my most regular recommendations. Don't expect profundity. But humor is indeed the hardest genre to write, and beneath the hilarity often lurks the germ of the truth we don't want to acknowledge. If you haven't discovered P. G. Wodehouse, by all means give him a try.

Cocktail Time - Annotations

Cocktail Time is a late (1958) entry to the Uncle Fred canon, and it's incredible to think that Wodehouse wrote it at the age of 77. While it might not reach the sublime heights of Uncle Dynamite or Uncle Fred in the Springtime, it's still full of wonderful Wodehouse wit and sparkle, and a plot that runs like a piece of well-oiled machinery.
