The novel corona virus has changed the world in a very short time span. Almost all the sectors of the economy have been disrupted very badly. The Indian higher education sector has also been affected by the closure of the country. It's approximately seven months of the closure of the institution and still, the reopening of the institute in complete physical mode is not certain. The closure may affect supply of knowledgeable pass out graduates to support the other sector of the economy and ultimately hamper the nation-building process in the long run. Therefore, an effort has been made to suggest the strategic direction for the reestablishment of the Indian higher education processes in the post-COVID-19 outbreak. At first, the traditional method to accomplish higher education processes is presented. Thereafter, all possible ways that may be adopted by institutions to accomplish the Indian higher education are explored. The new suggested alternate method has few challenges too, which are also highlighted in one chapter of the book. Further, quality of online education is measured by conducting survey and findings are included in one of the chapter of the book. After that policy to govern the online education is suggested. Thereafter the preparedness to maintain the higher education process in the post-COVID-19 pandemic is incorporated. Few strategies are also formulated based on the SWOT analysis of Indian higher education in regards to COVID-19 and presented in a separate chapter. At the end, a conceptual model is proposed to demonstrate the future of higher education. The book will provide strategic direction to the stakeholders of education sectors especially the Indian higher education sector to continue the education process in post COVID-19 outbreak and also be benefited with the e-revolution which has come in Indian higher education with COVID-19.

Are you a victim, or do you live according to your personal choice?

disappointments are strong enough to turn us meek, submissive, disoriented, frustrated, and to make us lead a compromised life with no identity. On the contrary, these situations can also be turned into an opportunity to introspect, rebel, revolt, discover, aspire, resolve, and leap towards a greater future. This is a memoir of my life ' s journey of defying failures, unshackling limitations, and challenging the self to discover inner strengths through a systemic approach, in order to achieve numerous goals and propel into a future of choice. I am not a celebrity, but I am definitely a hero of my own life and I will cherish and leave a legacy.

The stories of doctors giving new lives to patients suffering from diseases happen to be quite interesting. There can emerge interesting and vivacious shades of colours in times of lull in the medical journey or throughout the course of this journey. This book is an attempt for readers to experience these beautiful shades of colours. This book tells the story of three doctors, each having their own stories. But many similarities can be drawn from the three stories. The light is thrown on middle-class family struggles and the efforts spewed by parents to make their children live a life much bigger than themselves and to carry forward their unfulfilled dreams. There is sheer dedication to fulfil one ' s dreams and calling for moments of renunciation. There is happiness derived from the joy of fulfilling one ' s parents ' longing wishes. The duty to treat patients is spanned. To instil demoralized people the lost will to live and the confidence to thrive brings a unique feeling of merriment. Its the moments of struggles and hardships that emerge as the mantra to ignite the courage to face the ordeals. The book contains the stories of Muralidhar Reddy, the doctor of the brain, Bharata Reddy, the doctor of the heart and Prasad, the doctor of the kidneys. The reason for writing the stories of these three is special-all of us are good friends. The friendship is indeed professional and displays the classic relationship between a doctor and a journalist.
