Praise for Crown of Renewal “Mesmerizing . . .

[Elizabeth] Moon offers convincingly realized characters persuasively shaped by the extraordinary richness, depth and texture of the world they inhabit. . . . Such is the allure of an extremely talented writer at the the height of her powers.”—Kirkus Reviews (starred review)

Crown of Renewal In this final volume of Paladin's Legacy, overlapping crises beset realm after realm. The resurgence of magery among those with no family history of it exposes the weaknesses of the Fellowship of Gird in Fintha and Tsaia and leads to civil war in Fintha.

Elizabeth Moon packs (no pun intended) two or three books' worth of story into this fifth and final volume of the Paladin's Legacy series. I am giving her only four stars for Crown of Renewal because it seems particularly hurried and fragmented, and because she still didn't manage to erase the mess she made at the end of the Luap book.

I finished Crown of Renewal, the last book of the Paladin's Legacy series by Elizabeth Moon. I liked the series. The characters were engaging. They all had faults, and personal motivations. What I enjoyed most about the series was the overarching theme. Change.
Change must happen, or stagnation, death, occurs.

The mysterious reappearance of magery throughout the land has been met with suspicion, fear, and violence. In the kingdom of Lyonya, Kieri, the half-elven, half-human king, struggles to balance the competing demands of his heritage while fighting a deadly threat to his rule: evil elves linked in some way to the rebirth of magic.
