With war looming on the horizon and winter setting in, can two children escape North Korea on their own? Winner of the Freeman Book Award! North Korea. December, 1950. Twelve-year-old Sora and her family live under an iron set of rules: No travel without a permit. No criticism of the government. No absences from Communist meetings. Wear red. Hang pictures of the Great Leader. Don't trust your neighbors. Don't speak your mind. You are being watched. But war is coming, war between North and South Korea, between the Soviets and the Americans. War causes chaos--and war is the perfect time to escape. The plan is simple: Sora and her family will walk hundreds of miles to the South Korean city of Busan from their tiny mountain village. They just need to avoid napalm, frostbite, border guards, and enemy soldiers. But they can't. And when an incendiary bombing changes everything, Sora and her little brother Young will have to get to Busan on their own. Can a twelve-year-old girl and her eight-year-old brother survive three hundred miles of warzone in winter? The book Starting Over is the product of consumer demand. Dave Ramsey's Debtor Education (DRDE) provides pre-discharge financial education to debtors filing Chapter 7 and 13 bankruptcy as mandated by the United States Trustee, delivered to its users by their attorneys. Many of those attorneys have asked that DRDE provide something to help discharged debtors avoid the pitfalls they'll face as they leave the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction and their lawyers' protection and return to the real world. Starting Over begins with the moving story of the Director of Dave Ramsey's Debtor Education. He has been through the trenches and has great empathy for those who have to start over, as he did himself. This chapter reinforces the credibility of those who are offering this advice. After that the chapters are divided into several sections designed to track the debtors' progress, beginning with the days after discharge. It begins with a "To-Do List" of issues that should be addressed right away--the sooner the better--listed in more or less chronological order. Some of these may seem obvious--secure your home, don't go into debt for anything, cut up credit cards, etc.--but in truth, many people who have no history of fiscal responsibility need elementary guidance and a dose of hope in their effort to change their behaviors. The next several chapters make up what is called the "Next Steps." These are matters which will take longer, and about which one may need to do some serious planning. This includes finding a career that really fits, setting short term and long term goals, working on the attitudes and behaviors that caused the bankruptcy, making sure you have the right insurance protection, to name a few. Finally there is a section entitled "Advice for Moving Forward." In addition to some real-life suggestions and examples from successful bankruptcy lawyers, this part deals with major decisions such as renting versus buying, what to do about an upside-down car or home, the arguments against cosigning, and--hopefully unnecessary--dealing with collectors and creditors.

In Love Your Life, Not Theirs, Rachel Cruze shines a spotlight on the most damaging money habit we have: comparing ourselves to others. Then she unpacks seven essential money habits for living the life we really want--a life in line with our values, where we can afford the things we want to buy without being buried under debt, stress, and worry. The Joneses are broke. Life looks good, but hidden beneath that glossy exterior are credit card bills, student loans, car payments, and an out-of-control mortgage. Their money situation is a mess, and they're trying to live a life they simply can't afford. So why exactly do we try so hard to keep up with the Joneses? Are we really living the lives we want, or are we chasing someone else's dream, just trying to keep up appearances on social media, at church, and in our community? Why are we letting other people set the pace for our own family's finances? In Love Your Life, Not Theirs, Rachel shows you how to buy and do the things that are important to you--the right way. That starts by choosing to quit the comparisons, reframing the way you think about money, and developing new habits like avoiding debt, living on a plan, watching your spending, saving for the future, having healthy conversations about money, and giving. These habits work, and Rachel is living proof. Now, she wants to empower you to live the life you've always dreamed of without creating the debt, stress, and worry that are all too often part of the deal. Social media isn't real life, and trying to keep up with the Joneses will never get you anywhere. It's time to live--and love--your life, not theirs. "I've never read a book about money that takes this approach--and that's a good thing! Comparison has a way of weaving itself throughout all aspects of our lives, including our money. In Love Your Life, Not Theirs, Rachel Cruze outlines the seven money habits that really matter--and they have nothing to do with keeping up with the Joneses!" Candace Cameron-Bure Actress, author, and co-host of The View "Love Your Life, Not Theirs is full of the kind of practical, straightforward advice we've come to expect from Rachel Cruze.
