Debt is killing us. It overwhelms us. Our personal, consumer debt weighs heavy upon us. Burdensome and impossible to manage, there seems to be no way out. We often wonder what will bring us a light at the end of our financial tunnel. How do I get out of this mess? Can I get out of this mess? Initially, we think, "If I just had more money..." But most of us do not have more money. Each month our money is siphoned and sucked away by the debt we currently owe on our credit cards, cars and houses. We need to eat, but interest and finance charges consume our cash. We pay our bills but the money is gone before the last bill is paid. It can be depressing. Regardless of how you got there, debt often equals despair. That despair can make you feel like you're all alone, and yet if you talk to your neighbors, you'll realize you are not alone. It seems everyone is in this same financial boat, and many of us are but one paycheck away from losing everything. Many people use that next paycheck just to keep bankruptcy or foreclosure away for one more month. This manuscript affirms there is a positive alternative to managing our debt. It concludes there is a method that accelerates the repayment of debt and brings about the freedom of living debt-free, sooner than we ever imagined. There's nothing magical or illegal about these methods, but it continues to amaze me how the ordinary consumer remains unfamiliar with the simplicity of getting out of debt. And it's not the debt that is the real problem but the way they manage their debt with inefficient ignorance. Perhaps that ignorance is why we call it the banker's "secret." But there is nothing secret about it. Overwhelmed with debt? First off, you have to forgive yourself for past mistakes. You cannot change the past, and don't let the past ruin your future. Second, and more important, it's time to take action. Don't let your shame and grief paralyze you. It's time to take action. It's time to make a plan. Have the faith to believe it will all work out. It always has, it always will. The Banker's Secret is a method to efficiently and effectively manage your debt. But the longer you wait, the worse it's going to get. The Banker's Secret is a method that works and can put it to work today.

The One Financial Habit that Could Change Your Life Robert Anderson

An estimated 45 million adults in the U.S. lack a credit score at time when credit invisibility can reduce one's ability to rent a home, find employment, or secure a mortgage or loan. As a result, individuals without credit—who are disproportionately African American and Latino—often lead separate and unequal financial lives. Yet, as sociologists and public policy experts Frederick Wherry, Kristin Seefeldt, and Anthony Alvarez argue, many people who are not recognized within the financial system engage in behaviors that indicate their credit worthiness. How might institutions acknowledge these practices and help these people emerge from the financial shadows? In Credit Where It's Due, the authors evaluate an innovative model of credit-building and advocate for a new understanding of financial citizenship, or participation in a financial system that fosters social belonging, dignity, and respect. Wherry, Seefeldt, and Alvarez tell the story of the Mission Asset Fund, a San Francisco-based organization that assists mostly low- and moderate-income people of color with building credit. The Mission Asset Fund facilitates zero-interest lending circles, which have been practiced by generations of immigrants, but have gone largely unrecognized by mainstream financial institutions. Participants decide how the circles are run and how they will use their loans, and the organization reports their clients' lending activity to credit bureaus. As the authors show, this system not only helps clients build credit, but also allows them to manage debt with dignity, have some say in the creation of financial products, and reaffirm their sense of social membership. The authors delve into the history of racial wealth inequality in the U.S. to show that for many black and Latino households, credit invisibility is not simply a matter of individual choices or inadequate financial education. Rather, financial marginalization is the result of historical policies that enabled predatory lending, discriminatory banking and housing practices, and the rollback of regulatory protections for first-time homeowners. To rectify these inequalities, the authors propose common sense regulations to protect consumers from abuse alongside new initiatives that provide seed capital for every child, create affordable short-term loans, and ensure that financial institutions treat low- and moderate-income clients with equal respect. By situating the successes of the Mission Asset Fund in the larger history of credit and debt, Credit Where It's Due shows how to prioritize financial citizenship for all.

In our opinion we are living in the most critical time in American History.

Our national debt is nearly 20 trillion dollars. The interest on that debt increases at the rate of $15,000 per second. At this moment, almost 70 percent of the U.S. population is essentially living from paycheck to paycheck. One survey found that 69 percent of all Americans have less than $1,000 in savings. George Barna predicted that in 10 years, 75 percent of the income of our churches will dry up. Can you imagine your church surviving on only 25% of the income it enjoys today? We are praying that God will raise up some pastors and church leaders like the men of Issachar in The Old Testament. "And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do" (1 Chronicles 12:32). The men of Issachar were the only men in all of Israel who really understood what was going on, and knew what God's people were supposed to do. This book was written to help pastors and church leaders to understand the times and plan wisely as our churches face a very uncertain financial future. Gene Keith gk122532@gmail.com

Money Management Turn Bad Credit Into Good Credit: It seems that everywhere you turn, someone wants to know your credit score. It doesn't matter if this is you or someone from your bank. Many landlords will even run a potential renter's credit as this will usually give them insight as to whether the person will pay their rent. The landlords will also have guidelines to use in order to tell you if you are approved or not approved based on your credit score. While some may allow you to have a cosigner if you are not approved, they will also want to run your co-signer's credit report. This is often frustrating to many people, especially when you are trying to repair your credit. It can make you feel that you are never given a break or that your identity is now your bad credit. It doesn't have to be this way. In fact, the more you learn about the details of what bad credit is and how there are federal laws to help you overcome bad credit, the faster you will find yourself in financial freedom. Your credit score is vital to your life. It is something that helps you to enjoy life as you have added access to financial services and various investments. You must understand how your score can directly influence what you can purchase so that you can enjoy your life. The problems you have with your credit score can be very dramatic and you might not be fully aware of what affects your credit score or how valuable it is to you. Those people who pay off their debts and lines of credit with on-time payments will be more likely to have better credit ratings. There are many things relating to your credit score that should be explored that go well beyond just your payment history. Financial Budgeting: Everyone has an opportunity to grow their money and get out of debt, but you must start to make this a reality. Be warned, though, when your income starts to grow, it is easy to fall into temptation and start spending more than you are earning again. Refrain and continue saving and investing your money. Every small step counts. Every coin kept and invested counts. If you use the profit you make, you will be unable to grow your wealth. Instead, allow your investment to grow by using the profits as part of the next years principal. With time, you will have a venture that can not only buy you whatever you want but one that will continue to grow over the years. Taking advice from experts in the field you wish to invest is critical to your investment. Would you go to a farmer when you are sick, or would you seek out a doctor? The same way, take your investment knowledge from those who understand the market dynamics and can offer you advice to help grow your investment. Manage your credit cards with responsibility, or they will sink you into a hole. The easiest way to get into debt is to spend more than you earn. You need to keep your expenses lower than your income at all times. Watch your credit card spending because that's how we often find ourselves overspending. To get out of debt is to pay. The longer it takes you to pay, the higher the interest rate you will be required to pay. Either consolidate your debt or tackle one debt at a time. You might want to reduce your expenses, so you have more money to spread around. Always start by saving 10% of your income. A safety net is essential for your peace of mind. Budgeting does not have to be complicated. The more you simplify it, the better. As long as you track your expenses and stick to your budget, it will work for you. Ensure that you don't view it as a task but as a necessary tool to help you stay ahead, get a real financial picture, and manage your money correctly.

"If one can have earthly power, fame, and fortune, but truly prosper none, then is it also true that one can have not a cent, but have everything in Christ Jesus?" Are we really committed to making responsible financial decisions? It is not enough to understand that the issue is larger than just credit card debt; we have to take a sincere and practical look at how the average person can do his or her part to relieve their financial burdens and improve their personal economy. The essential elements of our livelihood—a home, an education, a vehicle, a birth, a burial—all put the average American into serious debt that can truly take over a person's life. One in a million win the lottery or make hundreds of thousands off a few investments. What about the rest of us?
