Problem vs. Solution Focused Thinking

Every person approaches a problem in a different way. Some focus on the problem or the reason why a problem emerged (problem focused thinking). Others prefer to think about possible solutions that help them to solve a problem (solution focused thinking).

Don Focus On The Problem

Focusing on the problem instead of the solution has a ton of benefits: You focus your time on the user 's need, what you 're trying to solve and why you need to solve it — not how. Your research automatically skews towards a deeper understanding of the user.

Here are 4 simple steps to ensure and promote Solution-focused Thinking: 1. Define What is the actual problem/challenge? Be specific and clear. The only problem might be your attitude. Remember... 2. Ask why Some experts say you should not focus on asking “ Why did this happen or why must XYZ be done ...
