The history of China, as any history, is a story of and in translation. Translating Early Modern China tells the story of translation in China to and from non-European languages and Latin between the fourteenth and the nineteenth centuries, and primarily in the Ming and Qing dynasties. Each chapter finds a particular translator resurrected from the past to tell the story of a text that helped shape the history of translation in China. In Chinese, Mongolian, Manchu, Latin, and more, these texts helped to make the Chinese language what it was at different points in its history. This volume explores what the form of an academic history book might look like by playing with fictioning as part of the historian's craft. The book's many stories—of glossaries and official Ming translation bureaus, of bilingual Ming Chinese-Mongolian language primers, of the first

Latin grammar of Manchu, of a Qing Manchu conversation manual, of a collection of Manchu poems by a Qing translator—serve as case studies that open out into questions of language and translation in China's past, of the use of fiction as a historian's tool, and of the ways that translation creates language.

From the New York Times bestselling creator of the Vanderbeekers series comes a triumphant tale of friendship, healing, and the power of believing in ourselves told from the perspective of biracial sixth-graders June and Tyrell, two children living in a homeless shelter. As their friendship grows over a shared love of classical music, June and Tyrell confront a new housing policy that puts homeless families in danger. It's June's first day at Huey House, and as if losing her home weren't enough, she also can't bring her cherished viola inside. Before the accident last year, her dad saved tip money for a year to buy her viola, and she's not about to give it up now. Tyrell has been at Huey House for three years and gives June a glimpse of the good things about living there: friendship, hot meals, and a classical musician next door. Can he and June work together to oppose the government, or will families be forced out of Huey House before they are ready?

"Must be slim, able to stand for long periods of time, and be impervious to the cold." The headline caught my attention.

"Hours are negotiable, pay is minimal, clothing absolutely forbidden." The second line piqued my curiosity. "Able to hold your bladder and tongue, refrain from opinions or suggestions, and be the perfect living canvas." The third made me scowl. "Other attributes required: non-ticklish, contortionist, and obedient. Must also enjoy being studied while naked in a crowd." The fourth made me shudder. "Call or email 'YOUR SKIN, HIS CANVAS' if interested in applying." The final made my heart race. I should've kept scrolling past the advertisement. I should've applied for the boring receptionist job at minimum wage. I should've clicked on any other job where I got to keep my clothes on. But I didn't. I applied. My interview is tomorrow...
