Review: Buzz
Aldrin, one of
manned space
flight's pioneers,
has helped create a
stunning, possibly prophetic novel of
the future of space exploration. A radio beacon from an unknown world
leads an astronaut
to disaster on the Moon -- and his son
far beyond that as he searches for the
key to the mystery of Tiber, a civilization who left artifacts in
the solar system

some 9,000 years
ago, with sufficient impact
on human affairs to explain some odd
references in the Bible.
