The only book you'll need to ace your AQA GCSE English Language exam! Written for anyone preparing for their AQA GCSE English Language exam, this book gets you right inside the head of the examiner so that every single thing you write gets a mark. You see, this exam is all about technique, and once you know the skills the examiner will mark you on, you can focus all your attention on the things that pile on the marks rather than wasting time on vague or irrelevant details. Learn how to:- Approach each of the Section A questions in the right way so that you get right down to the important stuff and spend as little time as possible on the questions that award the lowest marks;- Understand the difference between each of the questions and what the examiner is looking for when they mark (aka assessment objectives);- Plan the longer questions so that your writing is tight and controlled and easy to read;- Think originally when writing for Section B, so that your creative responses aren't the same as everyone else's;- Write in such a way as to give yourself the best possible chance of a Grade 8 or 9. Darren Coxon has been teaching English for more than twenty years. In that time he estimates he's put at least 1,000 students through GCSE exams. He can count on the fingers of one hand the number who haven't obtained a Grade 5 or above (and that was always teaching in non-selective schools). He puts this success down to a unique method which he'll share with you inside these pages. By buying this book you'll also have access to the Examiner's Head Facebook community, for further support and guidance. So come with him on a journey inside the head of the examiner! He's with you all the way.

Now in its second edition, How to Read Texts introduces students to key critical approaches to literary texts and offers a practical introduction for students developing their own critical and close-reading skills. Written in a lively, jargon-free style, it explains critical concepts, approaches and ideas including: - Debates around critical theory - The role of history and context - The links between creativity and criticism - The relationship between author, reader and text. The new edition now includes guidance on analysing a range of multi-media texts, including film and online media as well as the purely literary. In addition to new practical examples, readings, exercises and 'checkpoints' that help students to build confidence in their own critical readings of both primary and secondary texts, the book now also offers guidance on writing fully-formed critical essays and tips for independent research. Comprehensively updated and revised throughout, How to Read Texts is an indispensable guide for students making the transition to university study.

English Language Exam Practice Workbook, Grade 7 Hodder Education

Through analysis of case studies of young children (ages 3 to 8 years), situated in different geographic, cultural, linguistic, political, and socioeconomic sites on six continents, this book examines the interplay of childhoods, schooling, and, literacies. Written language is situated within particular childhoods as they unfold in school. A key focus is on children's agency in the construction of their own childhoods. The book generates diverse perspectives on what written language may mean for childhoods. Looking at variations in the complex relationships between official (curricular) visions and unofficial (child-initiated) visions of relevant composing practices and appropriate cultural resources, it offers, first, insight into how those relationships may change over time and space as children move through early schooling, and, second, understanding of the dynamics of schools and the experience of childhoods through which the local meaning of school literacy is formulated. Each case—each child in a particular sociocultural site—does not represent an essentialized nation or a people but, rather, a rich, processual depiction of childhood being constructed in particular local contexts and the role, if any, for composing.

English B for the IB Diploma Coursebook Collins Publishers

This volume documents international, national, and small-scale testing and assessment projects of English language education for young learners, across a range of educational contexts. It covers three main areas: age-appropriate 'can do statements' and task types for teaching and testing learners between the ages of 6 to 13; innovative approaches to self-assessment, diagnostic testing, self-perception, and computer-based testing; and findings on how young learners perform on vocabulary, listening, speaking, pronunciation, and reading comprehension tests in European and Asian contexts. Early language learning has become a major trend in English language education around the globe. As a result of the spread of teaching English to a growing number of young children, assessment of and for learning have emerged as key issues. In line with this development, there is a clear and emerging need to make early language programs accountable and to assess both the progress children make over time and to quantify their achievement at various stages of development. This volume informs stakeholders about the realistic goals of early language learning, their efficiency, and how much progress children make over time.
