Meet HIPAA requirements; Require only documentation that is clinically necessary for patient care; Not facilitate upcoding or gaming; Be written or recorded, well documented, and provide the basis for selection of a specific code; Be applied consistently across patients in the clinic or emergency department to which they apply Why Nursing ER Documentation is Critical
The most basic ER documentation must include: patient identification, how the patient arrived, care rendered prior to arrival, relevant history, chronological listing of physical examinations including vital signs, and the results of diagnostics, treatments and tests. The physician ' s orders and diagnostic analysis should be recorded.

Clinical documentation systems, such as templates, have been associated with process utilization. The T-System emergency department (ED) templates are widely used but lacking are analyses of the templates association with processes. This system is also unique because of the many different template options available, and thus the selection of the template may also be important.
