Edited volume of papers originally presented at the international symposium Art/Artifact/Commodity: The Currency of Oceanic things held at the Buffalo Museum of Science in January, 2012. The chapters make visible the movement of museum objects from one status - art, artifact, or commodity - to another, and sometimes back again. At the same time, the chapters uncover the various desires and values that impel such movements, suggesting new perspectives from which to understand and appreciate the collection assembled by P. G. T. Black that is now part of the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences.

There is a competitive advantage out there, arguably more powerful than any other. Is it superior strategy? Faster innovation? Smarter employees? No, New York Times best-selling author, Patrick Lencioni, argues that the seminal difference between successful companies and mediocre ones has little to do with what they know and how smart they are and more to do with how healthy they are. In this book, Lencioni brings together his vast experience and many of the themes cultivated in his other best-selling books and delivers a first: a cohesive and comprehensive exploration of the unique advantage organizational health provides. Simply put, an organization is healthy when it is whole, consistent and complete, when its management, operations and culture are unified. Healthy organizations outperform their counterparts, are free of politics and confusion and provide an environment where star performers never want to leave. Lencioni's first non-fiction book provides leaders with a groundbreaking, approachable model for achieving organizational health—complete with stories, tips and anecdotes from his experiences consulting to some of the nation's leading organizations. In this age of informational ubiquity and nano-second change, it is no longer enough to build a competitive advantage based on intelligence alone. The Advantage provides a foundational construct for conducting business in a new way—one that maximizes human potential and aligns the organization around a common set of principles.

There was no sharper con man on the streets of Chicago than Elijah Brookes. Women were his preferred prey—but no mark and no bankroll was safe when Elijah was on the prowl. Cool, beautiful Toni warned him, “Elijah, brothers be playin' games so hard sometimes they don't know when to stop. You know what I'm sayin'?” Elijah Brookes had to learn the ultimate lesson the hard way. So many games to be played, so little time.

New First-time Homeowners

Jim ran a profitable lawn mowing business for over twenty years. When he went into business with his son in 1983, there was no book, so they learned everything the hard way, through experience. After retiring in 2005, Jim wrote a guide that cuts right to the heart of the mowing business, showing you how to find customers and keep them happy, and how to operate efficiently, so you'll maximize your profits. As Jim learned, trial and error is slow and very expensive. Early on, they made the same mistakes over and over, spending whole seasons using wrong machines, pursuing wrong goals. You can follow ideas that wreck your profits, and don't even realize you're doing it! The business limps along, earning little or nothing and soon disappears. Every year, Americans spend more than $100 billion on lawn care. Jim learned to steer a healthy chunk of that money in his direction, and wants to teach you to do the same, opening the door to a lifetime of security and independence. The book is based on the combined experience of Jim and his son, a total of nearly fifty years of full-time mowing. No fantasy, no pie in the sky: Just a sharp focus on the facts and the vital questions, putting you years ahead of your competitors. No wasted time or money. The book includes a Quick Start Guide, so you'll earn maximum profits, starting on the first day.
