Kindergarten teacher Lauren Robbins once had what every woman on the planet desires: Nick. Their passion was explosive, their romance the stuff of songs...and it took fifteen years to get over him. Then out of the blue Nick turns up at her door, and all those years denying her ache for him are shattered with a single, smouldering kiss. But molten passion can't hide the secret she's kept for all these years. Because it's not just her heart on the line anymore...and not just her life that'll be rocked by the revelation. In a world with little hope and no rules, the only thing they have to lose is themselves. Rhys Cooper is a dead man. White Australia - with the history of its terrible treatment of the Aborigines is an extreme case study. In this brilliant essay, Germaine Greer shows how it could, should and must be different. The problem is not the Aborigines but the 'settler society' and what it has done to the country. She shows how Australians must embrace their aboriginality. By extension the argument applies to the whole world and to the unequal relationships between people. But as always with Germaine Greer it is argued with wit, humour, anger, passion, and superbly memorable prose.
