Development and Evaluation American Society for Training and Development

The peer-to-peer (P2P) training approach involves small groups of people from similar social groupings, who are not professional teachers, helping each other to learn. The P2P approach has great potential for rapidly identifying emerging lessons learned and integrating them into wide-reaching Army training. The present research identified the instructional principles and best practices for P2P from academia, industry, and the military supporting effective P2P training and incorporated them into a Soldier-friendly facilitator's guide. A formative evaluation was conducted with Soldiers using the guide to prepare and conduct group discussions for a face-to-face group setting and a distributed group setting where Soldiers were linked via video teleconference. One group of Soldiers served as ?facilitators? and used the facilitator's guide to prepare and lead discussions with other Soldiers who served as ?learners.? Feedback on the guide was mostly positive with Soldiers indicating that the guide provided an appropriate amount of information and a usable format and tools for structuring and fostering group discussions.

Ongoing efforts to transition P2P methods into Army training are discussed.

This practical, comprehensive guide to designing and running more effective meetings will result in less time wasted, more collaborative decision-making, and measurably improved business outcomes. There's nothing more frustrating than an unproductive meeting—except when it leads to another unproductive meeting. Yet every day millions of people conduct meetings—in person or online—without the critical understanding or formal training on how to plan and lead them effectively. This book offers a structured method to ensure that meetings will produce clear and actionable results. Meetings that are profitable and productive ultimately lead to fewer meetings. This book offers leaders a significant edge by

- Empowering readers to help their groups create, innovate, and break through the barriers of miscommunication, politics, and intolerance

- Making it easier for them to help others forge consensus and shared understanding
- Providing them with proven agenda steps, tools, and detailed procedures

Readers will learn how to resolve or manage common problems, inspire creativity, and transfer ownership to their meeting participants while managing interpersonal conflicts and other disruptions that arise. In a world of back-to-back meetings, this book explains the how-to details behind game-changing tools and techniques.

The Stepping Up Facilitator's Guide offers you the tools and guidance you need to prepare and implement an effective one-day workshop for first-time and aspiring supervisors. This proven workshop gives you the tools and materials you need to present an accurate, real-life picture of what it means to be a supervisor, the expectations for the position, the skills and knowledge required as a supervisor, and the path to effectively supervise others. The Facilitator's Guide is fully scripted and includes a step-by-step series of learning strategies that are supported by complementary workshop materials. For facilitators who are new to presenting, the materials can be used "as is" or the information can be customized to fit a facilitator's particular teaching style. At the end of the Stepping Up workshop, your participants will be able to:

- Understand the role of supervisor
- Effectively deal with the challenges that new supervisors face
- Implement the steps needed to get started as a new supervisor
- Apply the principles to build credibility as a supervisor
- Employ performance components when supervising
- Prepare a personalized road map to develop their supervisory knowledge and skills

The Stepping Up one-day workshop is a must-have resource for human resource professionals, trainers, and consultants. It includes a Facilitator's Guide--complete with PowerPoint slides, supporting materials, and CD-ROM--and?an interactive Participant's Workbook with a useful self-assessed questionnaire that pinpoints areas for growth. Help your participants step up and become the effective supervisors they were meant to be. Praise for Stepping Up "Stepping Up thoroughly addresses the core competencies of front-line supervisors who make the greatest impact on employee effectiveness. This kind of training is a must?have for any organization's survival kit." --Roger A. Korman, Ph.D., chairman & CEO, Aptilon "This is a great piece of work. I like the way the authors wove 'research' with practical applications and case studies. Stepping Up will be a reference I'll want to get for my new supervisors." --Dr. Clare Elizabeth Carey, CPT, president, ISPI 2006-07 "What matters most to a new supervisor? In my view, having the know?how to accurately self assess and be able to draw upon a variety of resources to quickly become effective in the new role. Stepping Up is a resource I can turn to for sound advice and practical tools for building and sustaining a supervisor's performance." --Christine Westover, director, Learning and Development, Canada Post Corporation

All too often, race discourse in the United States devolves into shouting matches, silence, or violence, all of which are mirrored in today's classrooms. This book will help individuals develop the skills needed to facilitate difficult dialogues across race in high school and college classrooms, in teacher professional learning communities, and beyond. The authors codify best practices in race dialogue facilitation by drawing on decades of research and examples from their own practices. They share their mistakes and hard-earned lessons to help readers avoid common pitfalls. Through their concrete lesson plans and hands-on material, both experienced and novice facilitators can immediately use this inclusive and wide-ranging curriculum in a variety of classrooms, work spaces, and organizations with diverse participants. "Race Dialogues: A Facilitator's Guide to Tackling the Elephant in the Classroom is a scholarly, timely, and urgently needed book. While there is other literature on facilitation of intergroup dialogues, none are so deeply and effectively focused on race—the elephant in the room." —From the foreword by Patricia Gurin, Nancy Cantor Distinguished University Professor and Emeritus Research Director, University of Michigan "This brilliant book is a gold mine of wisdom and resources for teachers, facilitators, and student dialogue leaders. It summarizes, explains, and elaborates upon everything I have ever been taught about what makes for great facilitation. With experience and compassion, the authors have written a clear, user-friendly guide to facilitation of race dialogue for both youth and adults. I will recommend this book to every facilitator and teacher I train or hire." —Ali Michael, director of the Race Institute for K–12 Educators and author of Raising Race Questions: Whiteness and Inquiry in Education

Creative Conversations for Better Leadership John Wiley & Sons

This book, published by the Western Pacific Office of the World Health Organization, serves as guidelines for applying an interactive approach to health management development. This approach combines the development of human resources, management systems, and policies. It focuses on the involvement of national staff in the evaluation of their work and professional practices. Their participation centers on establishing more effective policies and procedures and on improving their managerial skills. This manual targets mainly national facilitators who are trained to promote management development. They initiate, prepare, conduct, and follow-up on national activities in management development as well as continue their duties as senior health officials. The handbook's introduction addresses the rationale for this integrated approach to health management development, the approach itself, the workshop as a system, the role of national facilitators, and the development process and its measures of success. Part II examines the training protocols, each of which includes the outline of each workshop session, a lesson plan for each session, and notes for the facilitator. These protocols are district level management and planning, supervision of health personnel, management of the drug supply support system, and health sector financial planning. Part III is a module for workshop leaders entitled Training National Facilitators for Health Management. The annexes include a list of national facilitators for the Western Pacific region, a checklist of facilitator's responsibilities, an example of a workshop schedule, facilitator guidelines on managing a group process and on conducting a workshop session, self-assessment for managers of health care, a glossary, an exercise in terminology and team building, a technical report on district level management, and applications of the approach in South Pacific Island nations.
