Evidence-Based Treatment Planning for Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder Facilitator's Guide Math Solutions Publications

The depth and breadth of a mathematics teacher ' s understanding of mathematics matter most as the teacher engages in the daily work of teaching. One of the major challenges to teachers is to be ready to draw on the relevant mathematical ideas from different areas of the school curriculum and from their postsecondary mathematics experiences that can be helpful in explaining ideas to students, making instructional decisions, creating examples, and engaging in other aspects of their daily work. Being mathematically ready and confident requires teachers to engage in ongoing professional learning that helps them to connect mathematics to events like those they live on a daily basis. The purpose of this volume is to provide teachers, teacher educators, and other facilitators of professional learning opportunities with examples of authentic events and tools for discussing those events in professional learning settings. The work shared in Facilitator ' s Guidebook for Use of Mathematics Situations in Professional Learning (Guidebook) resulted from a collaborative effort of school mathematics supervisors and university mathematics educators. The collaborators joined their varied experiences as teachers, coaches, supervisors, teacher educators, and researchers to suggest ways to scaffold activities, encourage discussion, and instigate reflection with teacher – participants of differing mathematics backgrounds and with varying teaching assignments. Each guide has ideas for engaging and furthering mathematical thought across a range of facilitator and participant mathematics backgrounds and draws on the collaborators ' uses of the Situations with in-service and prospective teachers. The events and mathematical ideas connected to each event come from Situations in Mathematical Understanding for Secondary Teaching: A Framework and Classroom-Based Situations. A Situation is a description of a classroom-related event and the mathematics related to it. For each of six Situations, school and university collaborators developed a facilitator ' s guide that presents ideas and options for engaging teachers with the event and the mathematical ideas. The Guidebook also contains suggestions for how teachers and others might develop new Situations based on events from their own classrooms as a form of professional learning. Both teacher educators and school-based facilitators can use this volume to structure sessions and inspire ideas for professional learning activities that are rooted in the daily work of mathematics teachers and students.

Stepping Up, Facilitator's Guide, CD-ROM Included John Wiley & Sons

This book, published by the Western Pacific Office of the World Health Organization, serves as guidelines for applying an interactive approach to health management development. This approach combines the development of human resources, management systems, and policies. It focuses on the involvement of national staff in the evaluation of their work and professional practices. Their participation centers on establishing more effective policies and procedures and on improving their managerial skills. This manual targets mainly national facilitators who are trained to promote management development. They initiate, prepare, conduct, and follow-up on national activities in management development as well as continue their duties as senior health officials. The handbook's introduction addresses the rationale for this integrated approach to health management development, the approach itself, the workshop as a system, the role of national facilitators, and the development process and its measures of success. Part II examines the training protocols, each of which includes the outline of each workshop session, a lesson plan for each session, and notes for the facilitator. These protocols are district level management and planning, supervision of health personnel, management of the drug supply support system, and health sector financial planning. Part III is a module for workshop leaders entitled Training National Facilitators for Health Management. The annexes include a list of national facilitators for the Western Pacific region, a checklist of facilitator's responsibilities, an example of a workshop schedule, facilitator guidelines on managing a group process and on conducting a workshop session, self-assessment for managers of health care, a glossary, an exercise in terminology and team building, a technical report on district level management, and applications of the approach in South Pacific Island nations.

An In-depth Guide to Citizen Preparedness : Facilitator Guide American Society for Training and Development

Evaluating Communication for Development presents a comprehensive framework for evaluating communication for development (C4D). This framework combines the latest thinking from a number of fields in new ways. It critiques dominant instrumental, accountability-based approaches to development and evaluation and offers an alternative holistic, participatory, mixed methods approach based on systems and complexity thinking and other key concepts. It maintains a focus on power, gender and other differences and social norms. The authors have designed the framework as a way to focus on achieving sustainable social change and to continually improve and develop C4D initiatives. The benefits and rigour of this approach are supported by examples and case studies from a number of action research and evaluation capacity development projects undertaken by the authors over the past fifteen years. Building on current arguments within the fields of C4D and development, the authors reinforce the case for effective communication being a central and vital component of participatory forms of development, something that needs to be appreciated by decision makers. They also consider ways of increasing the effectiveness of evaluation capacity development from grassroots to management level in the development context, an issue of growing importance to improving the quality, effectiveness and utilisation of monitoring and evaluation studies in this field. The book includes a critical review of the key approaches, methodologies and methods that are considered effective for planning evaluation, assessing the outcomes of C4D, and engaging in continuous learning. This rigorous book is of immense theoretical and practical value to students, scholars, and professionals researching or working in development, communication and media, applied anthropology, and evaluation and program planning.
