Federalist Paper 1

Summary: Alexander Hamilton October 27, 1787. Hamilton begins the discussion of the entire 85 papers by identifying the critical issue that the draft constitution is meant to answer in the affirmative. He asks the reader to consider the truth of, in his words, “ whether societies of men are really capable or not of establishing good government from reflection and choice or whether they are forever destined to depend for their political constitutions on accident and force ” .

The Federalist

Papers were originally newspaper essays

written by

Alexander

Hamilton, James

Madison, and John

Jay under the pseudonym

Publius, whose immediate goal was to persuade the people of New York to ratify the Constitution.

Hamilton opened

Federalist 1 by

The Federalist Papers were written and published to urge New Yorkers to ratify the proposed United States Constitution, which was drafted in Philadelphia in the summer of 1787. In lobbying for adoption of the Constitution over the existing Articles of Confederation, the essays explain particular provisions of the Constitution in detail.
