to provide the most essential information for maximum utility in the field—whether in a refugee camp, operating room, disaster response scene, or other demanding environment. Helps providers prepare for service overseas, organize data to develop differential diagnoses, assimilate information on infectious and environmental diseases, and effectively serve the patients they will encounter. Provides concise, easy-to-read coverage of how to approach a differential diagnosis for infectious diseases overseas; nutritional, sexual, and environmental conditions; surgical and anesthesia care; long-term and short-term systems-based challenges, and more. Covers key topics such as Approach to Refugees and Internally Displaced Persons, Medical Response to

Disasters, Mental Health in War and Crisis Regions, and Considerations for Pandemic Preparedness and Response. Acknowledges the wide variance of different cultures, motives, resources, and limitations in the global health arena, and helps readers understand the factors which impact the efficacy and sustainability of care strategies. Financial Mail Rowman & Littlefield Publishers

Whether your plan is to start selling real estate as a full-time agent, or to be a part-timer with an eye on transitioning to full time after you quit your day job, or you just want to boost your current income by staying part-time, you will be confronted with an array of choices. How can new agents figure out which agency is the right fit for their financial goals and lifestyle? Sadly, the dropout rate for new agents is well over 80 percent. The primary reason is the choices new agents make from the start. They do not understand the significant differences between the franchise chains, the boutiques (luxury and otherwise), and the small, home-based brokerages. There are pros and cons for each type of office. Realtors who do not understand these differences hop from company to company. There are also hidden fees and agendas that are not disclosed to the new agent; there are hierarchies and unspoken policies in place at every office. Not knowing about the important details that are seldom disclosed up front causes agents to change companies multiple times, especially in their first year. In doing so, they lose confidence and momentum along with their customers and their listings. The new agent who can avoid the common pitfalls will not be one of the 80 percent who fail. What the new agent needs is empowering, street-smart information and Valerie Thorne's Start Selling Real Estate offers just that. The author's goal is to provide new agents with the kind of real world information that will enable them to make the right choices from the beginning of their careers. It will help new agents avoid time and money wasting activities. This book walks you through the types of agencies and provides you with the information that will help you decide which office is the best fit for you, based on your needs and goals. It explains the financial impact of different combinations of fees and agent/broker splits: the portion of money that goes to you and the portion that goes to your office once a deal has closed. It will explain why your broker's agenda is to get you to buy lead-generating and marketing services you don't need, and offers tips on how to sidestep their demands. Let Valerie give you the straight-up talk so you can be street-smart in this lucrative but rough-and-tumble game called real estate. Let her empower you to get started the right way. Who should read this book? •Anybody who is on the fence about a career in real estate or wonders about the initial costs and how long the process takes •Anybody who is afraid to get started because he or she does not understand how the real estate game is played •Anybody who is in real estate school now or just signed up for classes •Anybody with a lot of questions about what to expect •Anybody who is a new agent or is about to become an agent and wants straight-up advice on how not to become one of the 80 percent that fails

•Anybody who needs guidance in choosing the right office •Anybody who passed the state exam but never moved forward in real estate because of the minefield of choices and expenses •Anybody who is jumping from agency to agency, from one bad situation to the next, and needs to know how to stop the cycle •Any agent who is struggling as he or she comes to that make-or-break first-year mark when most give compilation of choral manuscript orchestral works from 1600 to the present. Synthesizing Jonathan Green's earlier six volumes on this repertoire, this edition updates and adds to the over 750 oratorios, cantatas, choral symphonies, masses, secular works for large and small ensembles, and numerous settings of liturgical and biblical texts for a wide variety of vocal and instrumental combinations. Each entry includes a brief biographical sketch of the composer, approximate duration, text sources, performing forces, currently available editions, and locations of materials, as well as descriptive commentary, discography, and bibliography. Unique to this edition are practitioner's evaluations of the performance issues presented in each score. These include the range, tessitura, and nature of each solo role, and a determination of the difficulty of the choral and orchestral portions of each composition. There is also a description of the specific challenges, staffing, and rehearsal expectations related to the performance of each work. Choral-Orchestral Repertoire: A Conductor's Guide
