The CELS ratings or Camels rating is a supervisory rating system originally developed in the U.S. to classify a bank's overall condition. It is applied to every bank and credit union in the U.S. and is also implemented outside the U.S. by various banking supervisory regulators. The ratings are assigned based on a ratio analysis of the financial statements, combined with on-site examinations made by a designated supervisory regulator. In the U.S. these supervisory regulators include the Federal R

CAMELS RATING SYSTEM - Prof. Vipin Benny CAMEL

Analysis-Part 3

CAMELS is an acronym for capital adequacy, assets, management capability, earnings, liquidity, sensitivity. The rating system is on a scale of one to five, with one being the best rating and five being the worst rating.

(Just keep in mind that a lower rating is better, indicating a more financially stable, less at-risk bank.)
