Writing and drawing are critical developmental skills that young children enjoy. Having a composition journal/notebook lets them keep all their creations together in one place. Many first grade classes use composition journals and teachers often require kids to buy their own. They are frequently found on school supply lists for first graders at back-to-school time. The journal is a great idea for kids from Kindergarten to 2nd grade. Each page inside the book has lines typically found on handwriting practice papers. So they can use the journal to practice their handwriting as well as write and illustrate their own stories. The top portion of the journal has room for the illustrations and the bottom portion has lines for writing. There are 160 pages in the notebook which is 80 actual sheets. The size is standard composition book size which is roomy enough for designs and writing but comfortable enough to hold. The back cover has a label for the child's name. The journal makes a cute, inexpensive birthday, Christmas and other occasion gift for nieces, nephews and godchildren.

"Writing allows each of us to live with that special wide-awakeness that comes from knowing that our lives and our ideas are worth writing about." -Lucy Calkins Teaching Writing is Lucy Calkins at her best--a distillation of the work that's placed Lucy and her colleagues at the forefront of the teaching of writing for over thirty years. This book promises to inspire teachers to teach with renewed passion and power and to invigorate the entire school day. This is a book for readers who want an introduction to the writing workshop, and for those who've lived and breathed this work for decades. Although Lucy addresses the familiar topics--the writing process, conferring, kinds of writing, and writing assessment-- she helps us see those topics with new eyes. She clears away the debris to show us the teeny details, and she shows us the majesty and meaning, too, in these simple yet powerful teaching acts. Download a sample chapter for more information.
