Flashpoint was started in January 2018 by BlueMaxima in an attempt to outrun the disappearance of content prior to the death of Flash. It has since evolved into an international project involving over 100 contributors, encompassing both webgames and animations created for numerous internet plugins, frameworks, and standards.

FLASHPOINT - Monte announcement

The flash point is a general indication of the flammability or combustibility of a liquid. Below the flash point, insufficient vapour is available to support combustion. At some temperature above the flash point, the liquid will produce enough vapour to support combustion.

(This temperature is known as the fire point.)
