The French Writer and aviator Antoine de Saint-Exupery (1900-1944), was born in Lyon. His first two books, SOUTHERN MAIL and NIGHT FLIGHT, are distinguished by a poetic evocation of the romance and discipline of flying. Later works, including WIND, SAND AND STARS and FLIGHT TO ARRAS, stress his humanistic philosophy.

Antoine de Saint Exupery in 'Flight to Arras' (1942) explains much more than the forlorn excuses of generals and politicians. It's the story of a reconnaissance mission by the then 40-year-old Saint Exupery that he, his squadron commander and everyone else knew would produce no useful information and might be fatal. ? Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, Flight to Arras “For love is greater than any wind of words.
And man, leaning at his window under the stars, is once again responsible for the bread of the day to come, for the slumber of the wife who lies by his side, all fragile and delicate and contingent. Love is not thinking, but being.
