I have had this tractor for over 25 years. My question is, are all 601 Ford tractors positive ground. I was ordering a set of electroinc points to replace the regular points and noticed everything was for positive ground. My tractor is hooked up- negative to ground and the positive to the selenoid. It has been that way for over 25 years.

The only hitch I had was when I went to attach the rear steering cylinder brackets to radius rods. These are the large fixed rods on each side that go to the front axles. The brackets did not fit around the rods. But it turns out that my tractor has oversized radius rods from a Ford 300 tractor that are a little beefier than the stock 8N.

Ford was a major manufacturer of farm tractors for much of the 20th Century. The Ford brand was first used on tractors in 1939 with the introduction of the 9N, although the Fordson brand had already been in use for 20 years. The European Fordson brand and US Ford brand were consolidated in 1964 with the creation of a global tractor line.

I am a very serious collector of Ford tractors. The standard of quality by which Dave at Arthurs Tractors restores his tractors surpasses anything I've ever seen. I bought 2 of his tractors, an 8N and a NAA, for my collection. He also restored another 8N for me and because of his quality, it won't be the last. Thanks Dave.
