In Free Expression in the Age of the Internet, Jeremy Lipschultz investigates the Internet and its potential for profound change, analyzing the use of its technology from social, political, and economic perspectives. Lipschultz provides new insights on traditional legal concepts such as marketplace of ideas, social responsibility, and public interest, arguing that from a communication theory perspective, free expression is constrained by social norms and conformity. In Free Expression in the Age of the Internet , Jeremy Lipschultz investigates the Internet and its potential for profound change, analyzing the use of its technology from social, political, and economic perspectives. Lipschultz provides new insights on traditional legal concepts such as marketplace of ideas, social responsibility, and public interest, arguing that from a communication theory perspective, free expression is constrained by social norms and conformity. Lipschultz explores social limits on free expression by first examining history of print and electronic media law and regulation. He utilizes the gatekeeping metaphor, the spiral of silence, and diffusion theory to explore current data on the Internet. He uses Reno v. ACLU (1997) as a case study of current First Amendment thinking. This book includes recent evidence, including samples of content from Internet gossip columnist Matt Drudge, and the investigation of President Clinton as it unfolded on the World Wide Web.The analysis is related to broader issues about Internet content, including commercial and other communication. The new technologies raise new questions about legal and social definitions of concepts such as privacy. Free expression is explored in this book under the umbrella of a global, commercial economy that places importance on legal rights such as copyright, even where those rights limit free flow of ideas. The Internet places free expression on two tracks. On the one hand, corporate players are developing cyberspace as a new mass media. On the other hand, the Internet is virtual space where individuals have the power to connect and communicate with others in ways never before seen. This groundbreaking text advancing new media scholarship uses the most current case studies from the Internet to show free expression in practice today. Lipschultz presents a relevant and efficacious social communication theory of free expression which critically examines the necessary factors involved in comprehensive policy analysis and enactment.

The classic survey design reference, updated for the digital age For over two decades, Dillman's classic text on survey design has aided both students and professionals in effectively planning and conducting mail, telephone, and, more recently, Internet surveys. The new edition is thoroughly updated and revised, and covers all aspects of survey research. It features expanded coverage of mobile phones, tablets, and the use of do-it-yourself surveys, and Dillman's unique Tailored Design Method is also thoroughly explained. This invaluable resource is crucial for any researcher seeking to increase response rates and obtain high-quality feedback from survey questions. Consistent with current emphasis on the visual and aural, the new edition is complemented by copious examples within the text and accompanying website. This heavily revised Fourth Edition includes: Strategies and tactics for determining the needs of a given survey, how to design it, and how to effectively administer it How and when to use mail, telephone, and Internet surveys to maximum advantage Proven techniques to increase response rates Guidance on how to obtain high-quality feedback from mail, electronic, and other self-administered surveys Direction on how to construct effective questionnaires, including considerations of layout The effects of sponsorship on the response rates of surveys Use of capabilities provided by newly mass-used media: interactivity, presentation of aural and visual stimuli. The Fourth Edition reintroduces the telephone—including coordinating land and mobile. Grounded in the best research, the book offers practical how-to guidelines and detailed examples for practitioners and students alike.

5-Minute Recruiting Routledge

5-Minute Recruiting: Using Voicemail to Build Your Network Marketing Business I've recruited hundreds of distributors and become a top money-earner in my company using voicemail as my primary recruiting tool. I use one-minute voicemail messages to get leads. And I use 5-minute voicemail messages ("sizzle calls") to recruit them. In fact, I've signed up more than a few distributors using ONLY a 5-minute sizzle call. Now, it's your turn. This book shows you everything you need to know to use voicemail messages to build a successful network marketing business. You'll learn how to create a simple "lead capture" voicemail message, and how to use it to get all the leads you want. You'll learn how to create an effective "sizzle call" voicemail message and use it to recruit distributors into your business. You'll learn how to leave a voicemail message (on a prospect's voicemail or answering machine) that gets them to call you back. And you get SCRIPTS you can use as models for your scripts, including actual scripts I use in my business. YOU'LL LEARN How to write scripts that get prospects to say, "I'm interested-tell me more" How long to make your messages-what's too long? What's too short? Where to get a FREE voicemail account for your messages-the service I use and recommend The easiest, "low tech" way to record your messages How to PROMOTE your lead capture message-what I do and recommend (with more scripts) Tracking your numbers-what's a "good" response and how to make it better How to use sizzle calls to quickly find interested prospects-the EXACT method I use How to create scripts for recruiting doctors, lawyers, business owners, and other professionals How to get your first message set up in ONE HOUR or Less! Voicemail messages are the ultimate lead capture and recruiting tool. They're easy to set up, easy to use, and they work like crazy. Instead of spending hours talking to prospects and following-up with them again and again, only to find out they're not interested, voicemail messages let you find out who is (and isn't) interested in a few minutes. If you want to recruit more, and recruit faster, you should be using voicemail messages to build your business. This book shows you how. The book is divided into five parts: Part 1: Lead Capture Messages: Sample scripts and step-by-step instructions for creating your own messages. Part 2: Sizzle Calls: More scripts, and a simple way to create the ideal message for your business. Part 3: Recording and Promoting Your Messages: How to set up your voicemail account, how to record your messages, and how to promote and use those messages. Part 4: How to Leave a Voicemail Message That Gets Prospects to Call You Back: When you should (and shouldn't) leave a message on the prospect's voicemail or answering machine, and what to say if you do. Part 5: Quick Start Guide: A step-by-step checklist of everything you need to get started. Simply put, this book shows you everything you need to know to create and use recorded messages to get more leads, recruit more distributors, and build your network marketing business. -- David M. Ward is an attorney and business owner. He is the author of Recruit and Grow Rich, Recruiting Up, and other best-selling books on network marketing.

This document provides a summary and evaluation of the methodological procedures and results of the full-scale implementation of the Beginning Postsecondary Student Longitudinal Study Second Follow-up, 1990-94 (BPS:90/94). The study was conducted for the National Center for Education Statistics by Research Triangle Institute with the assistance of Abt Associations and Management Planning Research Associates. BPS:90/94 involved locating and computer-assisted telephone interviewing of a sample of individuals identified initially in the 1990 National Postsecondary Student Aid Study. An introductory chapter provides a brief overview of the background, purposes, and scheduled projects of the BPS:90/94 full-scale study. Chapter 2 describes the design and method of the study, including sample design, respondent locating, data collection, and design of the operating control system. Chapter 3 presents the results of the locating and data collection, and Chapter 4 evaluates the quality of the data collected. The final three chapters present issues related to the construction of the study data file, sample weighting, and estimation techniques. Six appendixes describe the survey review panel membership and present student prenotification materials, the interview instruments, data collection materials, supplemental analytic results, and the variables used for design effects tables. (Contains 13 figures and 55 tables.) (SLD)

Now in its second edition, this reader-friendly text offers a comprehensive treatment of concepts and knowledge related to teaching second language (L2) listening, with a particular emphasis on metacognition. This book advocates a learner-oriented approach to teaching listening that focuses on the process of learning to listen. It applies theories of metacognition and language comprehension to offer sound and reliable pedagogical models for developing learner listening inside and outside the classroom. To bridge theory and practice, the book provides teachers with many examples of research-informed activities to help learners understand and manage cognitive, social, and affective processes in listening. Comprehensively updated with new research and references, the new edition includes additional and expanded discussions of many topics, including metacognition in young learners, working memory, and a L2 listening systems model. It remains an essential text on L2 listening pedagogy, theory, and research.
