The Committee warns of a major public reaction against radio digital switchover, scheduled for 2015, unless the Government make the case for switchover and keep the public informed about its impact. There is 'public confusion and industry uncertainty' over radio switchover and concern that due to the lack of public information people are still buying analogue radios which will be out of date in a few years time. Retailers gave evidence stating that they are not getting adequate information on switchover plans so are unable to offer consumers accurate guidance when making purchases. The report also points out that car manufacturers are still fitting analogue radios in new cars and digital radios will not be fitted as standard in all cars until 2013.The radio switchover is contrasted with the television switchover programme, finding that the benefits of TV switchover were well understood, in contrast surveys show that the public are generally happy with the present FM radio system and with the range of programmes that are provided.The Committee recommends urgent steps on a range of actions including: providing a detailed plan for universal digital radio coverage including how it is to be funded; developing a policy for the long term use of FM; devising a help scheme for radio switchover financed by general taxation rather than the BBC licence fee; ensuring new digital car radios are fitted with a multi-standard chip to enable their use overseas; encouraging radio manufacturers and retailers to devise a sensible scrappage scheme for redundant analogue radios. It is also noted that the BBC and Government disagree over whether the cost of universal digital coverage of their national stations can be met under the current licence fee. The report says that it is essential that a 'firm and unambiguous' plan for funding the completion of build-out of the digital radio service is put in place as soon as possible. The report concludes reversing current policy would be unproductive given the amount of investment in digital radio already and while the switchover in 2015 is ambitious a change of target date is not favoured at this stage.

There has recently been dramatic growth in the medium of radio. However, advertisers and agencies too often still use radio for its basic tactical abilities, leaving the emotional power of the medium untapped. This book is a practical guide to understanding and exploiting the true power of radio as the 'brand conversation medium'. Combining theory, listener understanding and practical advice, the authors explore the scale and effectiveness of radio advertising, how the medium communicates, its role in emerging brand thinking, and best practice for creating better radio advertising. Overviews, summaries, quotations and checklists are featured throughout, as well as case studies from companies in all sectors including Sainsbury's, British Airways, Carphone Warehouse, BT and the British Government.

Climate change is the greatest challenge facing humanity: drastic reduction of carbon emissions is vital if we are to avoid a catastrophe that devastates large parts of the world. Governments and businesses have been slow to act and individuals now need to take the lead. The Earth can absorb no more than 3 tonnes of carbon dioxide emissions each year for every person on the planet if we are to keep temperature and rainfall change within tolerable limits. Yet from cars and holiday flights to household appliances and the food on our plates, Western consumer lifestyles leave each of us responsible for over 12 tonnes of carbon dioxide a year - four times what the Earth can handle. Individual action is essential if we want to avoid climate chaos. How to Live a Low-Carbon Life shows how easy it is to take responsibility, providing the first comprehensive, one-stop reference guide to calculating your CO2 emissions and reducing them to a sustainable 3 tonnes a year.

Fernsehen und Internet sind heutzutage nicht mehr aus dem privaten und dem gesch  ftlichen Alltag der Menschen wegzudenken. Dabei schreiten die technischen Grundlagen in den Bereichen der Daten   bertragung und der Ger  tetechnologie stets voran. J  hrlich werden international die neuesten Techniken und Produkte auf den verschiedensten Ausstellungen der L  nder vorgestellt. Vor allem der internationale Prozess der Digitalisierung sowie die schnelle Verbreitung des World Wide Web bilden dabei wichtige Grundlagen f  r bisherige und zuk  nftige Entwicklungen neuer technischer Standards. Mit der fortschreitenden, weltweiten Entwicklung geht ebenfalls eine Tendenz zur Medienkonvergenz, das bedeutet das Zusammenwachsen zweier Medienangebote zu einem Endger  t beziehungsweise einer technologischen Plattform, einher. Beispielhaft hierf  r stehen die so genannten Smartphones – Mobiltelefone, die zahlreiche Anwendungen wie Telefonie, Fotografie und Internet in sich vereinen. Das Fernsehen und das Internet unterliegen ebenfalls zunehmend diesem Konvergenztrend. Waren Fernsehinhalte bisher   ber den Computer im Internet konsumierbar, l  sst sich nun eine neue Entwicklung erkennen. Die daraus folgende Konvergenz nennt sich „Hybrid-Fernsehen“ oder „Connected TV“ und beschreibt ebenfalls die Verschmelzung von Internet und Fernsehen in einem Endger  t. In diesem Fall ist dieses Endger  t jedoch nicht der Computer sondern der Fernseh Bildschirm. Hybrid-Fernsehen bezeichnet dabei einen Trend, der international zu beobachten ist. Auf Basis neuer technischer Entwicklungen des letzten Jahrzehnts, k  nnen verschiedene Internetinhalte nunmehr   ber das Fernsehger  t konsumiert werden. Dabei ist die Entwicklung dieses Trends nicht in jedem Land gleich. Inhaltenanbieter und hybride Fernsehangebote m  ssen sowohl im jeweiligen nationalen als auch im internationalen Rahmen betrachtet werden, um die Entwicklung von Hybrid-Fernsehen ad  quat analysieren zu k  nnen. Die vorliegende Arbeit besch  ftigt sich mit dieser Genese. Dabei werden die Entwicklung von Hybrid-Fernsehen in Deutschland, den USA, Gro  britannien und Australien n  her betrachtet und anschlie  end auf Grundlage dieser Entwicklungsbeschreibungen miteinander verglichen. Dadurch soll herausgefunden werden, inwiefern Unterschiede, aber auch Gemeinsamkeiten zwischen den einzelnen nationalen Entwicklungen von Hybrid-Fernsehen bestehen. Innerhalb dieses Vergleichs spielen neben den Entwicklungen auch die Erl  smodelle eine wesentliche Rolle. [...]
