Math Lessons for a Living Education Level 3 Golden Books

The Investigating Third Grade workbook encourages children to solve puzzles, find evidence, and crack a case using math and language arts skills. The activities build essential skills such as: -vocabulary -grammar -multiplication -division Perfect for at home or on-the-go! Engaging third graders in learning at home can be a challenge—Investigating Third Grade makes it easy. Unlike other math and language arts activity workbooks, this educational mystery workbook includes 200 unique activities, a special Detective’s Notebook, and a mystery story. Young sleuths will develop the math, language arts, and problem-solving skills they need for success in, and out, of the classroom. Far from the typical “skill-and-drill” workbook, each unique title in the Investigating series helps sharpen school skills while children solve an intriguing “whodunit” mystery story. Captivating and creative, the series offers a unique learning experience that appeals to a child’s natural curiosity.

Teach math lessons through the creative means of a life storyProvide 36 weeks of instruction based on skill levels rather than grade levelsGuide students by the use of inexpensive manipulatives, including index cards, dried beans, and construction paper! We often tend to compartmentalize when teaching children. In real life, there aren't artificial barriers between "subjects." For example, when you are cooking or baking, you have to use the skills of reading, logical thinking, and measuring, just to name a few. In driving a car, you see and read road signs, read maps, and count miles. So why do we say to children, "This is math, this is language, this is about science and nature, and this is history"? The most natural and effective means to teach children is through life examples. Content, story, and the ability to show math in real life make a living math book!
