The word Holocaust is derived from the Greek holokauston, a translation of the Hebrew word olah, meaning a burnt sacrifice offered whole to God. This word was chosen, and gained wide usage, because, in the ultimate manifestation of the Nazi killing program—the extermination camps—the bodies of the victims were consumed whole in crematoria or open fires.

The title speaks to Proctor 's outrage; "the golden holocaust" refers to the millions dead prematurely because of cigarettes made from golden cured tobacco leaves. Readers accustomed to the neutral and objective tone of most academic texts may be initially put off by the intensity of Dr. Proctor 's prose, but it will be the rare reader who can get far into the volume without sharing his sense of outrage.

"Golden Holocaust will stand indelibly as a landmark in the field of medicine and the history of science. It is a monument of committed scholarship and cool passion, making brilliant use of the new technics of data-mining to reveal a terrible calculus, while giving the lie to claims that advocacy must be the enemy of objectivity.
