This forces the charger to recondition and automatically recharge the battery. This is a useful feature to have when IMPRES batteries have been in storage for several months or longer. Two or three manual recondition cycles may be required to rejuvenate the batteries, due to long term storage conditions.

I've recently been given a set of Motorola GP328 16-channel

UHF Radios. They were part of a film production company, who upgraded to something better, and I also received a few spare batteries and a programming cable. They're still programmed with the channels that the production company uses, which don't appear to be the standard UHF channels.
