At the close of the verse the two oldest of our Greek MSS. agree in reading " His kingdom: " to this we will return afterwards. We have every reason to believe that the application of Psalms 45 which is here made was fully received by the ancient Jews; thus in the Targum on the Psalm Hebrews 1:7 is taken as a direct address to the King ...

Perhaps the most enigmatic epistle of the New Testament, the book of Hebrews confronts the reader with foundational Christian doctrines framed for an audience steeped in Jewish law and tradition. Perhaps this explains why present-day Christians often find this book confusing or even misleading.

And Hebrews presents Christ and His service in the heavens as antitype and fulfilment of the Old Testament instructions of service. Hebrews differs in some respect with the other epistles of the NT. God is not called father of the believers (Hebrews 12:7; Hebrews 12:9 are figurative only) and the position of the believer in Christ is not considered. The believers are seen as men on earth having free entrance to God and a heavenly calling by the work of Christ.

This 13th verse of Hebrews looks forward to the stupendous scene of Revelation 19:5 ff., when, against the glorious Lord Who comes riding with the armies of Heaven to tread "The winepress of the fierceness of the wrath of God, the Almighty," we find the kings of the earth lined up, under God's great enemy, the Beast, the Antichrist (Rev. 19:19).

Hebrews Verse by Verse - William Newell | Precept Austin

The advantage we shall reap by thus doing: it will be a means to prevent our weariness and fainting (Hebrews 12:3): Lest you be weary and faint in your minds.

Observe, [1.] There is a proneness in the best to grow weary and to faint under their trials and afflictions, especially when they prove heavy and of long continuance: this proceeds from the imperfections of grace and the remains of corruption.

Hebrews 1 - Verse-by-Verse Bible Commentary

12 Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses, let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin that so easily entangles. And let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us, 2 fixing our eyes on Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of faith.

For the joy set before him he endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

Hebrews 10 - Verse-by-Verse Bible

Commentary

Jesus is God's spoken Word, according to John. John 1:1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. John 1:2 He was in the beginning with God. John 1:3 All things came into being through Him, and apart from Him nothing came into being that has come into being.
