Course Overview: Management/Managerial Accounting (undergraduate and MBA) The managerial accounting course follows financial accounting in a two-course sequence for first and second year business majors. It is found at both two and four year schools, as well as in MBA programs. The purpose of managerial accounting is to provide managers with information useful in planning and controlling the activities of a business. It deals with internal, rather than external information. Managerial accounting reports include budgets, performance reports, and analysis of economic alternatives such as make-or.

Weygandt's Managerial Accounting, Third Canadian Edition retains the same features that made it popular in the previous editions: it gives students all the necessary techniques and concepts of managerial accounting in a focused, concise framework with an excellent pedagogy that's been praised by instructors. It does this by focusing on the tools students need to succeed, whether as accountants or in other career paths. Incorporating the unique Decision Toolkit learning system, and developed around a framework of decision-making, Weygandt Managerial is the perfect fit for any one-semester undergraduate managerial accounting course. However, the authors understand that many students in this course are not accounting majors and will need to understand how managerial accounting is used as a management tool. Therefore, Weygandt Managerial focuses on building decision-making skills, understanding how to use accounting information to make quality business decisions, and developing tools that can be used by future managers.
