The mixture will
look more like cake
batter than bread
dough in your machine, don't worry, it will be okay. The loaf may sink while it's baking, leaving a

crusty, crunchy
bowl on the exposed
end, which you will want to slice off
and discard. The finished bread will
be quite firm and
heavy, and I recommend slicing
it thin.

Make sure to check in on the bread dough after a few minutes of mixing. If it's too sticky, add a dash of flour until it's the right consistency. If it's too dry, add a teaspoon of water at a time until it's the right consistency.

This is a bread like Grandma used to make, rich and full-bodies enough to dinner rolls or piled-high sandwiches from heaven! The egg adds texture missing in store-bought and helps make this elegant loaf as versatile as it is basic. I love this recipe. It is a standard and one of my favorites! From Electric

Bread.
