Be the Nut is a story of a little buckeye who just can't come to terms with who he really is. He so desperately wants to become an oak tree that he can't see his own special qualities and he begins to compare himself to the little acorn. His comparisons lead to coveting, scheming, lying and even stealing! He learns some very important lessons along the way; like what we wear on the outside cannot change who we are on the inside and that God knows just what He's doing when He creates each one of us.

Motorcycle Illustrated Independently Published
Riding motorcycles is fun, but author Ken Condon maintains that there is a state of consciousness to be achieved beyond the simple pleasure of riding down the road. Riding in the Zone helps riders find that state of being. It's the experience of being physically and mentally present in the moment, where every sense is sharply attuned to the ride. Your mind becomes silent to the chatter of daily life, and everyday problems seem to dissolve. You feel a deeper appreciation for life. Your body responds to this state of being with precise, fluid movements, you feel in balance, your muscles are relaxed, and it seems as though every input you make is an expression of mastery. This is "the Zone." Condon identifies all of the factors that affect entering the Zone and addresses each one individually, from the development of awareness and mental skills to mastering physical control of the motorcycle. At the end of each chapter are drills designed to transform the book's ideas into solid, practical riding skills. Riding in the Zone takes riders to the next level in their skill set.

As the costs associated with buying and owning collectible American and European motorcycles continue to rise, enthusiasts are turning in greater numbers to motorcycles produced by Japanese manufacturers from the 1960s to the early 1980s. The prolific production of Japanese motorcycles during this period today translates to consumer-friendly market values for collectors. This buyer's guide divides the world of classic Japanese motorcycles by the four major manufacturers -- Honda, Kawasaki, Yamaha, and Suzuki -- while emphasizing such landmark models as the Kawasaki Z-1 and Honda CB750, and featuring a chapter of less common models from secondary marques like Bridgestone. Photographs of the motorcycles are accompanied by complete descriptions of specification, components, paint codes, and serial numbers. A five-star rating system grades the bikes on collectibility, parts availability, two-up touring, reliability, and power, while the author highlights common repair and restoration needs, and suggests sources for collectible models.

A series of paintings were sent via Facebook messenger with no sender identified. As a spiritual channel for Archangel Michael, they informed the author that this 'invisible' sender was a group of extraterrestrial beings known as the Arcturians. She believes that these images were given and meant to be shared with others during this time of personal and planetary acceleration. In this book she shares these images with you so that you may experience their transformative powers. Together, they serve as shamanic activation symbols to create new pathways of feelings for you as you hop about the Earth! The best way to experience these images is to feel into them with your heart and allow them to speak to you, as I have done in the channelings of their messages. Once you begin to work with these images, please feel free to join the conversation online to share and connect your personal experience with others. Wisdom to be shared for hearts of all ages with images that can bring about parallel feelings of peace and warm gratitude, melting that which has resisted the Light for generations ... up until this point for all that has gone before and all that is yet to come. May all beings Live as One in Peace. THE ACTIVATIONS HAVE OFFICIALLY BEGUN!
